KILLS CRIPPLE, TAKES POISON

FORMER SALINEVILLE PHYSICIAN, WHO SLEW DAUGHTER, NEAR DEATH

Dr. H. E. Blazer, 61, Wellknown in East Liverpool District, Administers Deadly Potion to Invalid Daughter to Forestall Possibility She Might Become Object of Charity, is Belief.

VICTIM'S AFFLICTION GREATER THAN HIS SCIENCE COULD CURE

Wife Died About Two Years Ago in Durango, Colorado. Where Family Moved From Salineville 15 Years Ago, Leaving Child Who Was Unable to Talk or Walk.

Dr. H. E. Blazer, 61, former Salineville physician and for many years a Columbiana county reform worker, is dying today in a Denver, Colorado, hospital from the effects of poison, which he took after administering a fatal dose to his invalid daughter, Hazel, 32, at their home in Durango, a suburb of Denver.

The physician's fear that his daughter, to whom he was very devoted, might become an object of charity, should he die, is believed to have prompted the murder and his attempted suicide.

Dr. Blazer and his family left Salineville about 15 years ago to locate in Durango. While living in the mining village in the western part of the county, the physician had been unusually active in the cause of prohibition and is said to have been responsible for the banishment of saloons from the village before he went west.

His daughter, Hazel, has been unable to talk or walk since birth. Two years ago, Mrs. Ida Potts Blazer, wife and mother, died at Durango, leaving the care of her crippled daughter to the physician. Every possible effort had been made to cure the invalid, suffering from a spinal trouble, but without success.

ARMY PLANES REACH MIAMI

Chief Refuses Authority for One-day Return to Selfridge Field.

MIAMI, Fla., March 2.—The Army planes that set out Saturday from Selfridge field, Mich., upon what was intended to be a non-stop flight to Miami, but what became a series of mishaps, soared over the city at 12:35 p. m. today. They hopped off this morning from Macon, Ga. Eleven of the twelve planes that set out were in the group that reached Miami.

MACON, Ga., March 2.—The squadron of airplanes which Saturday left Selfridge field, Michigan, for a non-stop flight to Miami, Florida, hopped off here today at 8:35 on the last lap of the flight.

Lieutenant Whitehead's plane developed motor trouble shortly after he left the field and he was forced to land again to make repairs. He departed twenty minutes behind the main squadron and said he expected to join them before they reached Miami.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Major-General Patrick, chief of the Army Air service, today refused to grant authority for Major T. J. Lanphier to return in one day from Miami, Fla., to Selfridge field, Mich.

The squadron will fly from Miami to Augusta, Ga., on March 4, and from Augusta to Selfridge field, on March 5.

"Captain Blood," Sabatini's Novel, In Review-Tribune

"Captain Blood," the most popular of Rafael Sabatini's novels, will be published by The Review-Tribune. The first installment will appear on Saturday, March 7.

Dr. Frank Crane, the noted writer, in reviewing the book said: "I do not hesitate to say that this is the best story I have read since 'The Count of Monte Cristo.' It is a story of historic merit and deals with the romantic life of an Irish medico, who becomes a pirate after being sold as a slave in the Barbadoes.

Sabatini has written some of the day's best sellers, many of which have been made into great photodramas. Among his most recent works are: "Scaramouche," "The Sea Hawk," "Mistress Wilding," and "Bradley's the Magnificent."

MISSING BRIDE NOW BELIEVED RIVER VICTIM

Police Abandon Foul Play Theory; Suicide is Hinted.

AID IS SOUGHT

Mrs. Margaret Glenn, 17, Disappeared Last Tuesday.

The disappearance of Mrs. Margaret Glenn, colored, 17-year old bride of Raymond Glenn, of West Eighth street, who has not been seen since last Tuesday night, continued to baffled the police today, after a five-day search.

Although it was first believed that the girl had met with foul play, the suicide theory was strengthened today after the police consulted friends of the girl. Relatives of Mrs. Glenn have abandoned hopes of finding the girl alive.

Ralph Branson, step-father of the missing bride, has offered a reward for information leading to the recovery of the girl, dead or alive. The police have asked officials at Toronto, Steubenville, Wheeling and other nearby communities to be on the lookout for the body which may be found in the river.

Mrs. Glenn disappeared about 9 o'clock last Tuesday night after she left her husband's home in West Eighth street. Glenn told the police that he watched his wife across the street in the direction of her mother's home, about four blocks away. She married Glenn the day before she disappeared.

Dr. J. C. Broomfield, Conference Leader, Visits M. P. Church

Dr. J. C. Broomfield, Fairmont, W. Va., paid his first visit Sunday to the First Methodist Protestant church here since his election as traveling president of the Pittsburgh conference.

Dr. Broomfield, who is the first traveling president in the conference, was elected at the annual meeting of the conference last September. He was pastor of the Fairmont Methodist Protestant church at the time.

Dr. Broomfield occupied the pulpit at the Sunday evening service, when the annual thank offering service for the Woman's Missionary society was held. He left for his home in Fairmont this morning.

PERMANENT CHANGE IN EARTH'S CRUST IS ONE RESULT OF QUAKE FELT HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

The East Liverpool district was slightly rocked by the earthquake which alarmed northeastern section of the United States and Canada at 9:23 o'clock Saturday night.

At least one house on Second street here was shaken, while the vibration was also felt in Chester and Wellsville, according to reports.

One Wellsville family claimed mantles on gas lights were broken by the shock. At first, they presumed the house was rocked by the vibration of a passing train.

Midland also reported evidence of the tremor. Hundreds on the streets in the

FILIBUSTERS BLOCK ACTION IN FINAL WEEK OF CONGRESS

Appropriations and Rivers and Harbors Bills May be Passed.

48-HOUR DEBATE

Cramton Bill First to Run Gauntlet of Oratory.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The legislative machinery of congress was paralyzed this afternoon when a bloc of "liberals" launched a filibuster in the senate to prevent action on the Cramton prohibition bill.

The measure provoked the first conflict between the "wets" and "drys" at the present session and brought to a standstill all legislative activity.

Under the leadership of Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri, the "wets" planned to hold the floor until the bill was withdrawn. They refused to permit even a vote on the motion to consider the bill.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The sixty-eighth congress entered its final week today with the legislative program hopelessly discredited by functional filibusters.

In the 48 hours remaining before the compulsory adjournment March 4, administration leaders hoped merely to finally enact all appropriation bills and put the finishing touches on the $43,000,000 river and harbors bill.

This program was even endangered by demands from several groups in the senate for final action on controversial bills. Leaders planned to meet this situation by giving each faction an opportunity to demonstrate its strength. In this classification were such measures as the Cramton prohibition bill, the McFadden banking act, the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill and the Fernald bill for purchasing the Cape Cod ship canal. Indications were that none of the drives would be successful.

Farm Relief Hope Gone.

The Cramton bill was given the first opportunity in the senate under an agreement to vote today on a motion to begin its immediate consideration. The bill, which would create a separate prohibition bureau, was bitterly opposed by the liberals in congress.

Walter Clapsaddle's Auto Damaged When It Skids Into Curb

An automobile, belonging to Walter Clapsaddle, St. Clair avenue milk dealer, was badly damaged when it skidded into the curb on St. Clair avenue, near the W. H. Travis grocery, at 8 o'clock last night.

Clapsaddle, unaware of the icy condition of the hill, started down the grade without chains. The machine got beyond his control and struck, demolishing two wheels and stripping the car of its fenders and one running board.

The driver was unhurt. The machine was towed to a garage by the McElvay Brothers wrecker.

A sedan, owned by C. W. Heffernan, American Railway Express agent, was also damaged when it skidded into a pole on East Fifth street, near Sugar street, at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. No one was injured.

HARLAN F. STONE QUILTS CABINET; BECOMES SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

Harlan Stone.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Harlan Fiske Stone, of New York, resigned today as attorney-general and was sworn in at noon as an associate justice of the United States Supreme court.

The oath was administered by Chief Justice Taft, garbed for the first time in his black judicial robes, Justice

Stone took the chair at the extreme left of the Chief Justice and participated in the day's proceedings although he had no part in the rendering of decisions or opinions.

Solicitor-general James M. Beck will act as attorney-general until the nomination of Charles Beecher Warren to that post is confirmed by the senate.

INAUGURAL HOSTS BEGIN TO DESCEND ON NATIONAL CAPITAL IN EARNEST

Despite Coolidge's Dictum of Economy and Simplicity, Washington Takes on Carnival Atmosphere.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—The inaugural hosts began to descend on the National Capital in earnest today, and despite the Coolidgean dictum of economy and simplicity the town began to take on the carnival atmosphere that always attends the quadrennial spectacle.

The temporary bleachers from which thousands view the passage of President Coolidge and vice President Dawes through Pennsylvania avenue to the capital were completed today, and workmen put the finishing touches on the small enclosed platform about the White House, from which the executive will review the modest inaugural parade.

Hotels are filled already, and the

STEAMER SINKS; 14 ARE DROWNED

MADRID, March 2.—Fourteen members of the crew of the Spanish steamer Cristiana Rueda were drowned when the vessel was wrecked, according to a dispatch from Bilbao today. The captain, boatswain, steward and two stokers were saved.

Some were of the opinion that the earthquake was provoked by a shifting of sub-strata rock near the Saguenay river's mouth in Quebec. Others thought they had traced it to a region near the great lakes.

Still others put the seat of the shivering off the New England coast, while some estimated that southeastern Pennsylvania was the spot or origin.

Prof. Douglass W. Johnson, of Columbia university's physiography department, who recently was awarded the $250 A. Cressy Morrison prize for his discovery of a "fault" running 250 miles from the Bay of Fundy toward Massachusetts, supposes that the quaking originated in that area.

Great Lakes Source, Some Think. Father Tondorf of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., on the other hand, told students of the phenomenon that he believed the quivering to have originated about the great lakes.

Dr. Chester Reed, seismologist of the Museum of Natural History here, judged from his seismograph records that the disturbance came either from the Saguenay river mouth section or else from off the Maine coast.

TURNS PISTOL ON GIRL WHO FLEES AS HER MOTHER DIES

Anger Blamed for Triple Shooting at Woodlawn, Pa.

GUNMAN MAY LIVE

Slayer and Woman Quarrel Over Plan to Leave City.

WOODLAWN, Pa., March 2.—

Angered because she refused to leave this city, Samuel Kish, 40, today shot his wife, Elizabeth, 38, to death then turned his revolver on his 12-year-old daughter as she attempted to escape. As the girl fell, Kish fired a shot into his head.

Wife Opposed Moving.

Kish and the girl were rushed to the Rochester General hospital, at Rochester, Pa., where it was said Kish has a chance to recover.

Police learned that the man and woman had been quarreling for some time over the question of leaving Woodlawn. The wife would not agree to leave, it was said, because a small daughter of the couple who died last October was buried in the Woodlawn cemetery.

Ministers Invite Laymen to Occupy Pulpits of Churches

Laymen from the Pittsburgh district will occupy the pulpits of many of the East Liverpool churches on Sunday, March 15, to discuss the laymen's organization being formed among churchmen of the country, members of the Ministerial Association decided at a luncheon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at noon today.

The meeting was called at the request of Walter Frazier, Pittsburgh business man, who is heading the laymen's movement. Rev. A. G. Puriss, Pittsburgh, secretary of the laymen's organization there, explained the work. Rev. Frederick A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church and president of the association, presided.

BORGLUM HITS BACK AT STONE MOUNTAIN FOES

Sculptor Fights to Complete Memorial to Confederacy.

FURNISHES BOND

Blames "Provincial Minds" for Interference With Work.

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, wanted in Georgia on a malicious mischief charge, began here today what he characterized as a fight to complete the Stone Mountain memorial to the confederacy despite "small-minded enemies."

He arrived here without baggage from Greensboro, N. C., where he was arrested for the Georgia authorities and where he gave bail.

The sculptor vowed he "would not let the rest of my life, rather than be denied a chance to complete his dream of nine years."

Borglum went into conference with wealthy friends here on the best means of proceeding. He attributed his discharge by the association sponsoring the gigantic sculpture to interference of "provincial minds."

Trying to Crucify Art

"Certainly, I may be guilty but only technically," he said of the charges that led to his arrest. "I destroyed my inaccurate working model for the greatest piece of sculpture in the world's history because I believe in the right of an artist to his own creation."

"Let my enemies, who think a local stone cutter or a shoemaker or a journeyman printer can do the work of a sculptor, go as far as they like. I am ready for the fight."

"Why, they're trying to crucify me. I don't mind that so much. But they're trying to crucify art and ruin the greatest expression of a people's faith ever put on a mountain side."

Demands Accounting.

"They fired me a fortnight after I had served notice on them. I intended to ask an accounting of their stewardship of the Stone Mountain funds."

"According to their own figures they were spending almost as much, dollar for dollar, for their office overhead as my boys and I were spending out on the mountain side. I wanted to know 'how come?' It's been a life-long habit with me to want to know 'how come?'"

"Naturally they did not dare answer."

Evangelist Ellis Annoints Sick in Services on Sunday

Three meetings were conducted Sunday by Evangelist I. M. Ellis, of Bethany, Oklahoma, in connection with the revival campaign under the auspices of the Church of the Nazarene, in their East Fifth street quarters.

The sick were anointed in connection with the afternoon service when the evangelist preached on the subject, "Is The Healing of the Body Provided For in the Atonement?"

The church quarters were filled to capacity at the evening service. About 15 persons responded to the invitation at the close of the sermon on "Shall I Do With Jesus, Who is Called the Christ?" Special music was rendered by the orchestra and by Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth Wells, of Indianapolis, Ind., talented musicians.

Miss Myler, a Cleveland Sunday school worker, gave an illustrated talk at the Sunday school hour. The meetings will continue throughout the week. First of a series of five Bible readings, dealing with the book of Revelations explaining the prophecies, will be given at tonight's services.

who threatened a prolonged filibuster to prevent its enactment.

Senator Reed of Missouri led the opposition.

Under the circumstances the president's spokesmen gave up all hope for enactment of farm relief legislation.

They found the house and senate warring over the methods of providing relief, the house favoring the Dickinson bill and the senate the Capper-Haughen act, which was recommended by the president's agricultural commission. As a result agriculture legislation was doomed.

One, Silver Lining

The administration saw but one silver lining in the legislative cloud.

This was a poll of the senate which showed that Charles B. Warren, of Detroit, will be confirmed in his appointment as Attorney General when it reaches a vote. The poll indicated that many Democrats, led by Senator Overman, Democrat of North Carolina, would join with the administration forces in confirming Warren. The vote, however, will be postponed until the special session of the new senate beginning Thursday.

To partly relieve the legislative jam, administration leaders also decided to postpone action on both the Isle of Pines treaty and the Lausanne treaty until the special session. It was said both treaties would be disposed of in a few days when the senate meets to confirm presidential appointments.

Former Chancellor Marx Most Frequently Mentioned as Successor of Ex-saddle Maker.

BERLIN, Mar. 2.—While the Nationalist press continued today to throw mud on the record of the late President Ebert, whom the socialists blame for the fall of the empire, the bulk of the German nation participated in nationwide mourning for the dead leader.

The Wilhelmstrasse was thronged all day long with thousands who came to pay homage to the former saddle maker who became Germany's first president. Through the silk curtains behind the great windows they could see the flickering candles at his bier.

Two Reichswehr soldiers stood at rigid attention under the huge black-draped chandeliers in the entrance of the palace.

U. S. Flag at Half Mast

Diagonally across from the palace the stars and stripes fluttered at half mast over the American embassy, the first of the foreign legations to halt their colors Saturday in token of sympathy.

The official program of mourning includes a memorial ceremony at the presidential palace Wednesday afternoon where Chancellor Luther will enliven the leadership of the president. Then the solemn cortege will pass down under den Linden, through the Brandenburg gate to the Reichstrasse, where the nation, through the deputies, will bid farewell to Ebert.

The body will be taken Wednesday evening to Heidelberg where the funeral will be held Thursday morning.

Dr. Eckener Mentioned.

Meanwhile a hot controversy over Ebert's successor was in full swing. The most frequently mentioned candidate seems to be former Chancellor Marx, who can carry the votes of all the middle parties—centrists, social democrats, democrats—and probably many other parties.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, hero of the transatlantic flight of the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, whose prospects as a presidential choice were first revealed by International News Service in November, is prominently mentioned as the only man remote from party strife.

A. B. MAY, TAX EXPERT, HERE

Federal Agent Will Assist Collector Fred George.

A. B. May, an income tax expert working out of the Cleveland district revenue office, arrived here today to aid taxpayers in making their returns on earnings for 1924.

May will assist Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue Fred George, who has office in the basement of the postoffice building. He and George will be on duty every day, except Sunday, up to and including March 16, the last day returns can be made to avoid a penalty. As March 15 falls on Sunday taxpayers have been given one day additional to make their returns.

The office hours will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. It is likely that the tax collector's office will also be open in the evening during the last two or three days.

Married men or those with dependents who made less than $2,500 last year, are not required to file an income tax return this year, the limit having been raised from $2,000 to $2,500. Single men, whose earnings were $1,000 or more, must file a return.

Collector George today emphasized the fact that May's services are free and that no form of income tax is too difficult for him to handle. He was sent here from the Cleveland office mainly to assist corporations, partnerships and business firms in making their returns.

Permanent Change

University seismologist, was inclined to think that the source of the jarring was around the eastern end of the great lakes chain.

Prof. Alan N. Batesman, New York University geologist, thought the quake traceable to a sinking of the New England coast.

Nearly all students of these phenomena were in accord on one thing. That was that it would take considerable time, during which all available records would be studied, to ascertain with any certainty whence came the quake and what happened there to cause it.

Cablegrams from England.

Cablegrams said the quivering had been registered in England. All these data must be compiled and compared, the scientists said, before anything definite can be learned.

Messages continued today to come into New York from many parts of the affected area, telling of excitement among peoples of different communities.

No small part of the tenement population in this city's lower east side still was fidgety. Incipient riots broke out there with the first shocks Saturday night. Apprehension was general among many who remembered the manner in which Manhattan has been burrowed from end to end with tunnels and tubes and how its buildings shoot skyward from small bases.

Seismologists and geologists, with few exceptions, gave assurances that study had convinced them and many of their ilk before them that the rock that makes Manhattan Island is of such texture and so deeply set into the earth and sea that it is not unlikely it ever will be jarred sufficient to bring its skyscrapers tumbling down.

HOLD SUSPECT IN GUN FIGHT

Miller Deetz Faces Charge of Shooting to Wound.

Charged with resisting arrest and shooting with intent to wound and maim, Miller Deetz of Berlin, Holmes county, arrested by county authorities after a gun battle in Hanoverton, last Friday night, has been held for grand jury action under $2,000 bond.

Deetz and Vincent Miller, who claims to be from Navarre, Ohio, and who is now in the Central Clinic hospital at Salem with 18 buckshot in his back and a bullet wound above his kidneys, have been working for the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power company as linemen between Wellsville and Sa. Louisville.

Deetz told county authorities that Miller shot, purchased liquor before they left Wellsville in their Ford roadster Friday evening. He claimed that when they reached Hanoverton the car was traveling at such a rate of speed that they were unable to make the sharp curve in the road and continued straight through the town for a short distance.

"I then backed the car to the turn in the road," said Deetz. "A man leaped upon the running board and we were under arrest for speeding. Thinking that some one was trying to rob us, I pulled my gun and started down the road. I again turned the car and started back toward the Lincoln highway."

The gun battle followed as the car raced through the town. Two tires were shot from the machine and the radiator punctured. The car was ditched at a point between Kensington and East Palestine. Miller, badly wounded with buckshot and a bullet hole in his back, walked to East Rochester and was arrested in the office of Dr. Taylor, who was dressing his wounds. Deetz returned to Kensington, where he was arrested by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Kindsavater.

Deetz claims he is the only support of his widowed mother.

Inaugural Hosts

lobbies bustling with new senators, new congressmen and their friends and relatives. Indications are, however, that there will not be the rush and scramble for hotel accommodations that other inaugurations have seen. This is due partly to the fact that the capital has erected a half dozen new hotels since four years ago, and partly to the lack of ostentation that has been thrown around the Coolidge inauguration.

Dawes And His Pipe Arrive.

General Dawes, accompanied by his family, arrived today. He was met by a delegation in silk hats and morning coats. The general himself presented no such formal appearance. He wore his slouch hat and puffed the inevitable pipe. The general is averse to "pig hats," and he may follow the precedent set by "Uncle Joe" Cannon in riding in the van of the inaugural procession in ordinary business clothes.

A round of social entertainments will feature the week in the capital. Such an imposing list of "affairs" has been arranged, as to move the general to remark to his friends, "Well, they're not going to make a tea-boulevard out of me."

Seventeen governors and their aids and escorts were arriving today and tomorrow. Most of these will march in the inaugural parade.

Overcoats in Order.

The weather bureau has slightly revised its forecast for Wednesday. The weather will be clear, as originally promised, but instead of blazy springlike weather conducive to a display of Easter finery, overcoats will be more in order. The forecast now is fair and cold.

The gaiety which Washington will engage in throughout the week, will not be reflected at the White House. In his own home, at least, President Coolidge can enforce the edict of simplicity.

The president's father, John C. Coolidge, will arrive tonight to see his son inaugurated. Miss Lamira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Coolidge, has already arrived. Tomorrow, John Coolidge, the president's son will come home from Amherst. There will be only a family party at the executive mansion.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their kindly acts and words of sympathy during our recent bereavement in the death of our beloved husband, Father, Son and Brother John R. Cunningham. We especially wish to thank Rev. C. W. Cheeks and all who sent such beautiful floral offerings.

MRS. J. R. CUNNINGHAM AND CHILDREN, FATHER, SISTER AND BROTHERS.

Pittsburgh Livestock.

Ada May, Dancing and Singing Star, Here Tuesday Evening

"Henry W. Savage's Musical Comedy Success, 'Lollipop' Comes to Ceramic Theatre."

Ada May, as small Ada Mae Weeks has been rechristened so her name will fit the electric light signs of "Lollipop," has unmistakably "arrived." As featured player of Henry W. Savage's newest musical production, which comes to the Ceramic Theatre Tuesday evening, this young dancing comedienne sings and plays a long acting role with the same enthusiasm that has made her dancing a delight.

She began her stage career seven years ago, as a solo dancer on the Ziegfeld Roof. She was then fourteen. She has since played in "Listen Lester" and "The O'Brien Girl." In "Lollipop" she plays the part of an orphan girl who reads a book that gives her faith in her own "dynamic personality" and in her ability to be "rich, beautiful and free." Good luck and a lot of laughter follow this orphan's experiment with the faith cure.

As a dancing comedienne, Ada May sets a stepping pace that only the liveliest of dance artists can follow. All kinds and every kind of dancing are displayed in "Lollipop," with two separate dancing ensembles, made up of American girls and boys and a new unit of the famous Tiller Girls from London, imported by Mr. Savage especially for "Lollipop."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 2.—Industrial stocks, including the oils, moved up briskly to higher price levels in the early trading today. After an advance of from 1 to 3 points in opening quotations some of the best known speculative performers, headed by American Can, rushed up to new high prices for the year on unusually heavy trading. The high priced equipment stocks and specialties like Texas, Gulf Sulphur, Standard Milling, Famous Players and North American company continued the forward movement inaugurated last week. American Can topped 179 and shattered its best previous high record and so did American Locomotive and a score of active stocks in this period.

There was every indication that the anticipated move of oil stocks had finally been started. All of the independent oil shares which figured in the week end rally were in good demand at higher prices, with some stocks in this group making up new 1925 price records.

Higher posted prices for Mid-Continent Crude Oil are anticipated in the tieids since the large buyers are paying 40 to 50 cents a barrel premium. January reports show another considerable decline in stored Petroleum. Pan American B. rushed up to above $1 on heavy trading on reports that powerful eastern interests were about with the company. Independent Oil to become identified in an active war and Gas topped 40 for the first time this year and gains of a point or less were made by Marland, Phillips, Cosden, Skelly-Shell Union, California Petroleum, Pure Oil, Sinclair, Union Oil of California and Pacific Oil. Atlantic refining gained 2 points on early active trading.

Liberty Bonds.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Opening Liberty bonds: 3 1/2's, 101.22; first 4 1/2's, 101.19; second 4 1/2's, 100.26; third 4 1/2's, 101.6; 4th 4 1/2's, 101.24; new 4 1/2's, 104.27; new 4's, 100.29.

England is Fighting Smuggling of Booze; Brandy is Favorite

DOVER, England, March—New York may have its well-known "Rum Row," but England has a phantom "Rum Row."

Hobbing lights off the south coast of England on dark nights may or may not be the lights of smugglers' craft, but it seems to be a fact that a considerable amount of liquid refreshments is being brought into England, without the payment of duty.

Brandy from France is a favorite cargo with the smuggler, though there are many other products which the smuggler finds it profitable to run in.

The Customs officials have established a patrol system and are doing their utmost to check smuggling, but just as the rumships off New York are able to elude the government authorities even so England's south coast smugglers baffle her Customs patrol.

White House Economy

It is pretty hard on the president of the United States to have to use an old, worn-out eraser when he wants a new one. It may be hard on his family, or at least on White House retainers, to weigh out flour and sugar in the kitchen, and count the eggs. The discarding of paper drinking cups may be criticised as unhygienic. White House competitions, too, for the best economy suggestions among employees, may seem undignified.

Nevertheless the public, while smiling at such unusual conduct in that quarter, does it with good-natured approval. The press, while having its little jokes about an economical president, realizes that while any particular item of economy may seem petty or absurd, the general effect of such a policy is good. What the president is after is to set the entire government a conspicuous object lesson in thrift. For that purpose the little things may be as impressive as the big things.

Congress needs such a lesson. Every governmental department needs it. And to tell the truth, the whole nation needs it. There is no such orgy of extravagance as there was during the late and unlamented war boom, yet nearly every American family is wasting money or wasting things that are worth money. If the White House example were followed this year in every American home, it would save the people a billion or two of dollars.

Subsidized Emigration

The British government is going to pay Australia for taking British immigrants. It has agreed to pay about $5,000,000 for every 14,000. That means a subsidy to Australia for letting Englishmen in. It means a bonus of about $350 going with every immigrant.

The money is to be used by Australia for public improvements such as roads, railways, land clearing and housing, waterworks, etc., in the sections where the immigrants settle. It is hoped in this manner to develop unoccupied lands and give the new immigrants opportunities equal to those of native Australians.

If Uncle Sam had only thought of something like that, in the days when he was getting a million immigrants a year! Australia must be a good bargainer; or else England must be more burdened with surplus population than the world has realized. Ordinarily new countries look upon immigrants as highly desirable in themselves, as an economic asset, even though they come penniless. This has been so particularly in the British colonies, as regards British immigration.

So here is something new and thought-provoking in immigration policies. And the idea may yet be applied in the United States. It might be that a country like Italy, overpopulated and deliberately encouraging the exodus of its people to prosperous lands like America, would pay for their acceptance, because of the double benefit of fewer mouths to feed in the mother land and large sums of money sent back home by the emigrants.

Billions for Building

The forecast of the Architectural Forum a year ago was $5,560,000,000 of new construction in the United States during 1924. The actual building ran about $200,000,000 above that figure. The Forum, then, may be accepted as a fairly accurate prophet when it promises $5,000,000,000 of new building for 1925.

"Will the country never get built up?" people ask. Not for a while yet, at any rate. Architects explain that the normal building amounts to $3,000,000,000 to $3,500,000,000 a year, and that there is still a building deficit of about $5,000,000,000 to make up. On that basis it will take about three years more of current activity to bring the country back to normal.

But arriving there, the American people may not be satisfied with "normal" accommodations, and may insist on going right ahead and providing homes, offices, hotels, factories, stores, churches, schools, etc., according to a new and higher standard. Present tendencies suggest that.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

EXECUTIVE AIDS TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A fundamental reform of congressional procedure whereby representatives of the executive departments would be permitted to participate in debates in the halls of congress is being considered with a possibility of action at the next session.

Such a reform would be the first great departure from the original theory of the operation of our form of government since the constitution was framed. That theory provided for three distinct branches of the government, the executive, legislative and judicial. The proposed reform would bring about a limited mingling of the legislative and executive.

It is of special interest to note that but a few months ago another attack on the tripartite separation was proposed when Senator La Follette advocated that congress be permitted to review decisions of the supreme court of the United States. That proposal would have mingled the legislative and judicial functions. If both proposals were adopted, the original theory would be broken down to a considerable extent.

There is scant expectation that the La Follette proposal regarding supreme court review will be adopted, but the other proposal seems to have better chances. Two bills already have been introduced in congress to effect the change. Representative Jacobstein, of New York, and Representative Mooney, of Ohio, have introduced substantially similar bills which would give the heads of departments, boards, bureaus and commissions the right to appear in congress and participate in debates and answer questions.

Two systems have been proposed to work out such a plan. The first would provide that the president on the head of each department should select from members of congress a man who would discharge the function of special representative of the particular department in congress. This would be similar to the system of parliamentary secretaries in vogue in Great Britain and many other countries. The man chosen would occupy two positions. He would be a member of the senate, or house of representatives, and would also be parliamentary secretary for some department. Half of his time would be spent on departmental business and half on purely congressional business. His chief function would be a mingling of the two; that is, he would handle in congress the affairs of the department to which he would be assigned.

AGAINST THE CONSTITUTION

It is not likely that this system will be adopted as an amendment to the constitution would be required to put it into effect. The constitution requires that members of congress occupy no other government positions. There is also a statute which provides that no person may draw two or more salaries from the government if their aggregate exceeds $2,500.

A more likely system suggested provides that congress by special act permit either the heads of the departments or their representatives to occupy seats and take part in debate. Under such a system, presumably, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, for instance, would appoint Undersecretary of the Treasury Winston as parliamentary secretary for the treasury. Mr. Winston would attend sessions of congress and committee meetings whenever any legislation affecting that department or even affecting any appropriations of money should be under consideration.

Many advantages are decided by proponents of the plan to reside in it. It is pointed out that under the present system, including the cabinet, one man, a possession of the information they should have regarding the functioning of the executive departments. Former Secretary of Commerce Redfield, who also was previously a member of the house of representatives, in his recent book, "With Congress and Cabinet," says:

"The halls of congress are not a source of accurate knowledge concerning the government."

The point is made that frequently congress refuses appropriations for important work because it not understand the situation. Were a representative of the affected department on hand during debate on the measure he could briefly explain the work and straighten out the whole matter. This is an age of congressional investigation. It is contended that often one of the house of congress will go through the process of adopting formal resolutions asking for information on some subject when, were a representative of the department involved present, the whole matter could be disposed of in 10 or 15 minutes, saving the time and money of both congress and the department.

WAS URGED LONG AGO

It is interesting to note that such a proposal has been urged in the past. As far back as 1864 a select committee of congress brought in a report favoring admission to the halls of congress of heads of executive departments. Again in 1881 a senate committee brought in a similar report. This senate committee had as members some of the most distinguished senators who have ever sat in the chamber. Among them were James G. Blaine, W. B. Allison, John J. Ingalls and O. H. Platt. These men favored the mingling of the legislative and executive functions to the extent of having department representatives participate in the proceedings of congress.

In the early days of the republic, department heads were considered to have the privilege of the floor of congress. Then Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury, made his famous report on the public credit, he appeared in person. Thomas Jefferson, as secretary of state and as president of the United States, appeared in person before the congress. General Knox, secretary of war, is recorded as having been present on notable occasions and to have submitted matters to the consideration of the congress, answering questions and participating in debate.

In fact, these early precedents prompted Woodrow Wilson in his determination to deliver his messages to congress in person.

President Wilson favored such a plan as has been outlined. As long ago as 1893, Mr. Wilson wrote:

"The degree of separation now maintained between the executive and legislative branches of our government cannot long be preserved without very serious inconvenience resulting."

Advocates of the plan say that at present representatives of the executive branch of the government exercise real influence over congress, but it is secret. Did these officials appear in person and propose their measures orally, the public would be better informed as to the source of influence affecting legislation.

Secretary of State Hughes has gone on record as favoring the plan and many other distinguished officials believe it would be desirable. Much prejudice would have to be overcome to bring about the change, as many members of congress believe it improper to make a fundamental alteration in the plan for the operation of the various branches of the government made by the framers of the constitution. It seems more than likely that some time will pass before any change is effected, but the subject is almost certain to be agitated with increasing frequency.

The American living problem seems to consist in finding some day to buy a new car before the old one is altogether worn out.

One good way for a boy to develop into a Numbi is to live a long distance from the school house and make a practice of starting late.

It may become advisable sooner or later for America to make its foreign loans in paper marks and rubles instead of gold dollars.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. MCINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 2.—I'm off again to Paris. "Let's go to Europe!" said the highly important member of my household. "Let's!" said I. And two days later we are on our way in the Mauretania—swiftest of the trans-Atlantic grayhounds.

I've crossed in the Mauretania before and found it a game, sturdy, buoyant, bucking mountainous waves with a sort of joyousness. She gives you the impression of having a good time. Our deck steward Musker calls her: "A rippin' little blighter!"

A rather swank crowd is aboard. Several dukes and lords and their ladies. Also Gertrude Lawrence, the actress, Sir Alfred Butt, Arthur Hopkins, Dudley Field Malone, Adolph Zukor, and, O, yes, a Mr. Cox with two men servants and Mrs. Cox with two maids. Their servant problem seems to be solved.

My first day aboard ship is generally a squeamish one. I stick to my cabin. And it wasn't pleasant to stumble upon a three letter word meaning grease in a cross-word puzzle. I ventured out once and found passengers parading in life-jackets for drill and cantered back to bed again.

I couldn't even smile when Gertrude Lawrence explained that a five letter word meaning a kick in the pants was a flask. Our captain is A. H. Rostrom, who commanded the Carpathia in the heroic rescue of the Titanic survivors many years ago.

There are varying emotions at the pier when a ship sails. Weeping. Gay shouting and fluttering of colored kerchiefs. But the most amusing thing to me was an excited fellow who called from the dock as the ship poised out into the Hudson: "O, hey, did you forget your order book?"

Many are aboard I know. Among the first I saw was Zoe Beckley, queen of the Park Row "sob sisters" who is on her way to Bucharest to see another queen—the queen of Roumania. Miss Beckley and I used to be Simon Legree by the same city editor on the old New York Evening Mail.

The most pathetic group on a ship it seems to me is the ship's orchestra. They carry on valiantly as the ship slides along—striking raucous notes with every lurch of the vessel. Now and then the leader puts up a card "By Request"—a bit of hocus-pocus, I believe. I do not believe they ever get a request except not to play.

I am always rather entranced by the English servants, "Very good, sir," and the rising inflection of their "Thank you!" They know how to give a certain dignity to a rather humble calling. Yet I do not believe any servant in the world compares with the old-fashioned, loyal southern darkey for service and comfort. They have all the English servant has—and more.

Crossing last summer there was a rush of passengers to the bar when the boat passed the three-mile limit. Nothing of this sort happened aboard the Mauretania. It may be, however, that a poor start will make a good finish. You do feel far from home, however, beyond the three mile limit when you see cocktails at 30 cents each and bottles of beer 15 cents each. I'm laughing.

A sudden squall belched up from nowhere in the late afternoon. The ominous noise of closing portholes, tightening life boats and slamming doors is never pleasant, but this proved only a slight gale and we were soon out of it headed for the vast deep. I never start on a trip without suffering neurotic reactions. I want to kick myself for coming and think of a thousand things left undone. And on a boat you are conscious that you can do nothing about it. You cannot turn back and no doubt soon I will be thrilling to the journey.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By ALICE LANGLEIER.

PARIS, March 2.—Can the wife become her husband's equal and still retain his love? This is the question of "L'Egale," the Equal, now being played by Gemier's troupe at the Odeon theater.

It is an after-war piece, which is obtaining a large amount of success because of this new problem that is just beginning to interest many French women. Four years of war have greatly modified the soldiers left behind them. Bobbed hair is only one small sign of their desire for more freedom. Everywhere, even in the old world, they are taking the places of men and filling them well.

In the first act a manufacturer returns from Germany, where he has been a war prisoner for years. He expected to find his factory closed, his household without a head and his wife at her wits' end. On the contrary everything was in the pink of condition. Cecile, the wife, once a bit frivolous and childish, had taken over the direction of the business and after a few bad knocks had succeeded in coming out on top. The business was flourishing, in fact, never were things more prosperous. Georges was grateful, but the same moment deceived and disillusioned. His feelings were hurt when he found that his wife had been able to do without him and, more than that, had been able to take his place and even surpass him. Pride killed his old love for Cecile and it wandered off to Blanche Hardain, an old friend of his wife, a war-widow well versed in all the feminine seductions.

But she is one of the old-fashioned "fatal women" who wants beaucoup money and lets out her secret too soon. Georges' love grows cool and when his wife feigns business difficulties, he takes this opportunity to go back to her. It is rather an old trick, but it works just as well. There is pleasant reconciliation and, of course—all ends well.

Plans for the Village Sara Bernhardt are progressing under the stimulus of numerous benefit performances, which are being given in the French capital.

The artists' village, which will be in a nearby suburb, Plessies-Robinson, will provide suitable accommodation for poor but worthy intellectuals, including writers, painters, actors, actresses and scientists. There one will be able to live and work in an artistic little pavilion fitted with every modern comfort. The designs have been made by Victor Sardou, son of the famous dramatist, which is proof enough that the village will be a thing of beauty.

It is planned for people of more than ordinary intelligence, as well as more than 30 years—those who have great minds capable of producing things worth while, but little means and heavy family burdens, perhaps. An association is attempting to raise one million francs and then the French government will supply the rest to make the project an accomplished fact. One is reminded of the days of the Middle Ages, where there was a patron to look after the poets.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane, and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

GASOLINE 50 CENTS. WHEN?

President Coolidge has rendered important public service in establishing his board for oil conservation. The matter is more important to the public than to the oil producers for, unless new and great oil territories are soon located, the signs will read, "Gasoline 50 cents." Probably recent gasoline rate was probably the last that will be seen in this country.

MR. WEEKS WILL REMEMBER

It is announced that the president will leave Brigadier General Mitchell to the tender mercies of Secretary Weeks, who, thanks to Mitchell's fearless and patriotic testimony stands exposed as a monument to complement incapacity if nothing worse.

It is not easy to believe that the president will throw General Mitchell overboard entirely. There will probably be a string attached to the general in the way of a private word of advice from the president to the secretary.

If the worst comes and General Mitchell, with the president's tacit approval, is punished and humiliated for telling the truth, Mitchell may find comfort. When he is turned over to Mr. Weeks, the latter will be turned over to the newspapers. And what they will probably do to Mr. Weeks will last longer and be longer remembered than anything Mr. Weeks can do to General Mitchell.

GOOD ROCKEFELLER WORK

Human intelligence has no national brand, the works of science become immediately automatically the possession of the whole world. It is, therefore, an honor to the Rockefeller, father and son, that they should be using some of their money to help and encourage the poverty-stricken scientists of Germany, enabling them to continue their work for civilization.

JAPAN, CHINA, RUSSIA

The soviet government has ratified Russia's treaty with Japan, so that China, Japan and Russia now united by treaty form the basis of a big European-Asiatic combination.

It interests us because the three nations are united chiefly in their dislike of the United States. The Chinese masses have no particular reason for disliking us since we refused to take our share of the Boxer money. But skillful propaganda has made China think that this nation in some way represents contempt for Asia's people.

Russia dislikes us because we persist in maintaining what they call a capitalistic government. They object to our system as we object to theirs.

The success of our capitalistic system annoys Russia, while the fact that we won't admit Asiatic masses to full partnership annoys Japan. We may have trouble in that direction some day if we remain open to attack.

Any hope for prolonged safety must be based on the old saying that there is a special providence for children, drunkards and fools. Asia has her troubles. Educating her masses to hate something across the Pacific may cause them to look for things to hate nearer home.

China's railways are in utter disorder, the whole system a wreck, the various brigand armies seizing different lines.

Japan lacks perfect harmony with 2,500 police protecting her parliament. Our congress, which has just raised its own pay, even if it has not done much else, needs no protectors, thanks be.

But if one fine morning half a dozen big American cities should be bombed, gassed and wrecked, with the steel and oil men still running our army and navy, and with no aircraft for defense, there might be more trouble here at home.

Following such a calamity it would take more than 12,500 policemen to guard some of our official patriots.

We are getting very near to travel through the air. Last week the big dirigible Los Angeles reached Bermuda after a 12-hour journey from Lakehurst, N. J. The boats take 48 hours for the journey.

And the Los Angeles is a slow boat, going about 60 miles an hour, one-fifth the speed of a good modern airplane. As to safety, the Los Angeles with helium gas is at least as safe as railroad or steamship.

Another year or two will see commercial air lines. The government ought to start it, and thus help pay the cost of upkeep while training crews.

But the railroads don't want to see the government carrying passengers and the railroads rule.

News from Asia tells of an Indian scientist discovering an "invisible light." It makes opaque objects transparent.

Japan announces that her young women will no bob their hair. They would have the best of reason, their complicated headdress compelling many of them to sleep with their heads on blocks of wood.

Rothermere, brother of Lord Northcliffe, has accepted a challenge and will bet $25,000 that he can successfully pass an ordinary schoolboy's examination.

If he can he is the exception. The average man's education leaves him early as regards details. Ask your intelligent neighbor any simple question about Baffins bay, or what countries he would pass through on the way from London to Constantinople, for instance.

We learn, largely to forget, and we worry the young with knowledge they will never use, which shows we do not know much about real education.

Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, tells a Louisville audience that a war between Great Britain and America is unthinkable, and that the best thing for the world's peace would be "a firm understanding between America and Great Britain and her dominions."

For these kind words thanks. A nation like this with a government that lacks the brains to prepare in peace or to deal with its grafters in war, would be fortunate to possess a friend in Great Britain.

They have a government that oil men, steel men, battleship builders and international bankers do not dominate.

That's why England has just appropriated $100,000,000 for aircraft.

Thank heaven you live in a country with open frontiers around all the 48 states, of which it is composed, with freedom to move in all directions. Europe is cursed with passport restrictions of which this is a sample.

The little Tyrolean town of Brenner, chopped in two after the war, is part Italian, part Austrian. The church is on Italian soil, nearly all the congregation live on Austrian soil. Every Sunday each Austrian worshiper must show his passport to get inside the church.

SOCIETY

Mrs. O. H. Dawson Hostess at Bible Literary Club Meet

In preparing the 1925 calendar for the Bible Literary Club it was the aim of the program committee to produce one as interesting as possible. That they have accomplished their object was demonstrated again Saturday afternoon during the meeting with Mrs. Olen H. Dawson, as hostess. Mrs. C. R. Boyce presided, and Mrs. J. W. Irwin was leader.

"Interwoven Gospels" formed the topic of a talk by Miss Florence Updegraff who gave the new idea of the gospel chronological events—a connected idea of the selection of the disciples, Luke's preface, John's introduction, the fulfillment of the promise of the birth of Christ—concluding with a record proving the Resurrection.

"Songs of the Gospel" given by Mrs. T. C. Flick, made visible the human side of Christ, and references to vocal music were classified from many parts of the Bible, expressing the emotions of humanity under all conditions. Historical events of Biblical times also were fitted to proper places by song.

"Great Revivals of Modern Times" was the subject of a talk by Miss Maud Baum, in which she traced the results of early Italian revivals, other revivals when terror was the rod used to convert sinners, the revivals of 1850, the Scotch and Irish revivals and the great work done in the coal fields, concluding with the history of the Moody and the Billy Sunday revivals.

Mrs. A. Moss gave a review of Hebrew Theology—the fundamentalism of Judaism, the mental and moral developments, the story of the giving of the Law and concluding with an incident relating to the infinite nature of God and how to grasp it.

The club contributed $19 to tuberculosis patients.

The next meeting will be held March 14, with Mrs. W. T. McNutt as hostess.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thins, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual break-down of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! We know that as blood cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

Start taking S.S.S. today and get back that power in your blood!

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

My! What a Pain!

It takes you right across the back! Sometimes in the arm, hip, or foot. Probably due to over-abundance of that poison called uric acid. Happens when the kidneys become clogged, and are unable to filter the uric acid from the blood.

There's more of this trouble in winter following a cold, or an attack of grip, which, like any other infectious germ disease, fills the blood with an extra load of poisons that overwork and break down the kidneys.

You may know the kidneys are weak when you have constant back-ache, sick headache, dizzy spells, the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism, or neuritis, or when sleep is disturbed two or three times a night.

At the famous Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., (Dr. Pierce, Pres.) hundreds of such cases are treated every year, and the result was the discovery of "Anuric."

Drink plenty of water, preferably hot, before meals, followed by one of Dr. Pierce's "Anuric" (anti-uric acid) Tablets obtained in 65c bottles at any drug store. This treatment dissolves and flushes out the uric acid and helps to bring kidney action back to normal. If you want a trial package send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the muss mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Sincerely moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Tom Mix and His Dog in "Teeth" at Columbia Theatre

Admirers of Tom Mix, with the inseparable Tony and the more recent co-star, Duke, the dog, will have the opportunity to see their favorite in a new wonder picture when "Teeth" comes to the Columbia theatre today. In this, his latest vehicle, he appears as Dave Deering, a happy-go-lucky wandering prospector, a lover of his horse Tony, and later a dog, Duke, that he finds sorely wounded. From this point the story moves with intensified action, with many realistic scenes, one vivid feature being a real forest fire. It is an ideal vehicle for Mix.

"Teeth" was directed by J. G. Blystone for William Fox and was adapted from "Sonny" the popular novel by Virginia Hudson Brightman.

"I Can Sink a Ship in From 2 to 4 Minutes"

Washington officials watching the clash between Brig. Gen. Mitchell, assistant chief of the U. S. army air service, and his superior officers, are inclined to ask that his "sporting proposition" to decide the merits of his case be accepted. To prove that his contentions regarding the value of aircraft over battleships in war are correct he has asked permission to sink the battleship Oregon, held for target purposes. "I can sink her within from two to four minutes if given the chance," he says. Photo shows General Mitchell at right, explaining his views to Rep. P. B. O'Sullivan of Connecticut, one of the members of the special aircraft committee before which Mitchell made charges of detective equipment and poor methods in the air service.

Feminism Invading Harem.

Women in the Mohammedan countries where the harem has held sway for centuries, have won their emancipation by leaps and bounds, and there is a great changing in the social and economic condition of these women. Bobbed hair and high heeled shoes, not to mention French clothes and American hygienic habits, have replaced the old order of things among the younger women in Turkey. In the old days women were not educated in that country as a general thing, but today education has been made easily accessible. The change in government to the republicanism has helped the cause of women considerably.

JULUS THAI DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

TRAFFIC LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Three Arrested During Past Week for Road Violation.

Just before W. S. Perry of the state highway department, who conducted a road hearing here Thursday left for Columbus, he held a lengthy conference with Sheriff George Wright relative to the rigid enforcement of the road and automobile laws.

"I want to assure you that all officers in Columbus are back of you in your effort to enforce these traffic laws," Mr. Perry declared. "The overweighing of trucks is one of the greatest menaces the state highway department has to contend with, he asserted.

"Owners of trucks are responsible and not the drivers when trucks are overloaded. I wish to say this, however, that there are only about 10 officers in Ohio where these laws are being enforced, and Columbiana county is one of the ten.

Last week Deputy Sheriff Henry Burbon "picked" up three trucks that were overloaded. The first had 9,000 pounds over weight, and the second 7,500 pounds over.

Frank Piccolo, driving a load of macaroni from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Youngstown over the Cox highway last Friday had 10,000 pounds over weight, and he posted a forfeit of $100 for his appearance in court at Lisbon.

Fines collected from those who are arrested for overloading trucks are credited to the county road fund. Should a conviction result in the case of Frank Piccolo, this will mean that $300 had been added to this fund in less than a week.

Movement Launched For Purchase of Motor Fire Truck

In order to secure additional fire apparatus, a movement is expected to be launched in Lisbon this week urging the Lisbon village council to purchase a new motor truck, and the purchase price would be reduced to the council through public subscriptions.

Suggestion has been made that a public subscription of not less than $2,500 be taken, and this money be given to the council. The municipality may then add what amount it desires, so that a modern truck could be secured.

A meeting of council will be held Monday night at which time the subject of new fire apparatus is expected to be discussed. It may follow that either a committee of business men or the Kiwanis club will be asked to become interested in the public subscription movement.

SPECIAL SESSION OF GRAND JURY

A special session of the grand jury has been called by Judges James G. Moore to convene at 9:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning. The same grand jurors who served at the January session will go into session this week.

The next regular grand jury will convene Monday, April 6, but in order to clear the investigation of a number of major cases now pending, it was deemed wise that a special grand jury convene at this time.

First and second degree murder charges from Wellsville are to be considered by the grand jury this week, and it is also possible that a manslaughter and several burglary charges will also be investigated.

J. C. McIntosh of Wellsville will be foreman of the special grand jury as he was last January.

The county commissioners announced Monday that bids would be received March 23 for furnishing medical services to prisoners in the county jail. Dr. Seward Harris of Lisbon has been performing this service for several years.

NEW MINISTER FILLS PULPIT

Rev. R. J. Bennett, formerly Shenandoah, Va., and who recently accepted the pastorate of the Lisbon Christian church, assumed his charge Sunday, preaching at both morning and evening services. The Rev. P. M. Kendall, whom Mr. Bennett succeeded, is now located at Medina. Rev. James M. Davidson of New Brighton, Pa., occupied the pulpit at the church of the Nazarene Sunday morning and evening. This church at this time is without a stated pastor. It has not been indicated by the officials of this church when one will be called.

CLAIMS DUTCHER IS HOLD-UP MAN

APPELLATE COURT MEETS MONDAY

The appellate court of the seventh judicial district will go in session in Youngstown next Monday, and will probably remain there for the next six weeks.

Ice Age Unlikely

There are old timers who will tell you that as far as the United States is concerned, the winters are warmer than they used to be and that a climatic change is taking place. Dr. A. P. Chapter 41—(Continued.)

Rossiter came over and patted her shoulder, then put his arm about her. "Don't cry, Kara—you've been just fine through the whole thing, loyal as could be. You're his mate, all right—the sort of thing I wanted, that sees a man through."

Karesia laid hold on self-control. "We won't talk about it, Rand. It's a comfort to feel that you're my good friend and that you don't think ill of him any longer. Go in and see them. If John can't see you, talk to Clarice. You don't know how splendid she has been throughout all this. It's made a great change in her, being able to believe in her father—the child has been unhappy all her life."

"I suppose you know all about it now, Kara—Clarice and my affair. I did like her—it was the shock of finding out who she was."

"I have always thought that 'way down in your heart you cared for Clarice. I told her our history the other day—every bit of it—and what do you think was the first thing she said to me? 'I don't see how you could have left him like that!' She was angry with me for having ill-treated you!"

Rossiter flushed deeply, but all he said was, "I'll go into town now. I can't work, the way I'm feeling—I'll have to get it off my chest. I'll run in and see you sometimes—take you out in the car. I don't like that white, thin look of yours," and he went off in his usual vividly energetic way.

That day was a trial to Karesia. She was given an insight into the brazen urge of curiosity. Her telephone rang until she refused to answer it. Suda was distracted by the frequent ringing of the front door bell. Fortunately it was equipped with a chain, and Suda spoke through a crack to the curious ones outside: "You write note and I take and see," was his formula. Even Karesia's 'wabby' neighbor across the street called her up and inquired in accusing tones whether the old lady whom she had been wont to lead up the hillside every morning was the "wait" mentioned in the morning paper? Very strange, the whole thing!

Happily the two reporters who had given her such kindly and laudatory notices in their respective papers at the time her residence in Hollywood first became known requested interviews early in the day. Karesia adhered to the account in the morning papers, giving Dascome the credit of the discovery, and, thereafter, all callers in quest of information were referred to the forthcoming papers; Mrs. Kaime had nothing further to say on the subject.

It was a relief to find that she had been correctly quoted; also that there was not a hint of the real relations between her and Dascome. On the contrary, one paper devoted several paragraphs to the "report" that Mrs. Sonya Karesia Kaime and Randsome Rossiter were engaged. Randsome Rossiter had been called upon and he had denied the report; he and Mrs. Kaime were "good friends, that was all." There were photographs of Clarice in the evening papers and a great deal said about her going into pictures—an heiress to ten millions, determined upon a career. Nadine Navarre, interviewed, said that Clarice Dascome had unusual talent. Yes, she had known John Dascome for a number of years, a man of fine character wronged by a set of extraordinary circumstances. Poof! She had always known that the matter would be cleared up sometime—it had never disturbed her! "You see, my good friend," she told the reporter, "I know an upright man so soon as I see him. These people who do not understand character, they are so stupid!"

Though her condition was still precarious, Elaine Dascome was said to be doing well; her physicians—three noted names were mentioned—were much pleased. There had been no setbacks. They would not permit conversation, but, from what she had said, it was evident that her mind was clear; as is the case with amnesia, she had no recollection of events following upon the blow on the head which had rendered her unconscious. Her husband and daughter were in constant attendance at her bedside; they had been denied to all reporters.

Clarice telephoned to Karesia: "They say mamma is doing well. She knows me and, when she isn't asleep, she holds my hand. She knows father, too, now. This morning she said to him, 'I've been ill for a long time, haven't I, John?' And he said, 'Yes, Elaine. If you try not to talk and think, you will get well more quickly.' And she said, 'Yes, I'll go to sleep.' . . . Father looks so ill and tired, Mrs. Kaime. . . . Mr. Rossiter came to see us the other day. He feels so badly he nearly cried, but father spoke very nicely to him. Oh, Mrs. Kaime, the people who keep trying to see us and write! It doesn't please father, it bothers him—all about their always having thought he was innocent and things like that—stacks of letters."

Karesia collected a definite anxiety out of it all. "Clarice, will you give your father a message for me? Tell him that I beg him to take care of himself. He has been under a strain for so long and now comes the reaction. Tell him I am well."

Then there followed days when the papers were filled with a "bridge-podge of 'Dascome' news; men who had met John Dascome here and there, while he was on his long quest, who wanted to say what they thought of his resolute character. Women wrote to the papers what they thought of a man who had suffered as he must have—so brave through it all! A splendid man! And his poor wife! The utter sadness of it, her youth gone, so broken! God grant that she would recover and their days end happily!

Captain A. B. Randall, of the liner Republic, tells this story: "A steward," he said, "stood at the gangway of a ship of mine, and as he stood there he kept shouting for the benefit of the arriving passengers: 'First-class to the right! Second-class to the left.'"

"A young woman stepped daintily aboard with a baby in her arms. As she hesitated before the steward and he bent over her and said in his chivalrous way: 'First or second?'"

"Oh!" said the girl, her face as red as a rose. "Oh, dear, it's—it's not mine."

BRITAIN ASKS $650,000,000 FOR DEFENSE

Both Air Service and
Navy Seek Large Increases.

PREPARE BUDGET

Biggest Boost in Appropriation Sought by Admiralty.

LONDON, Feb.—Great Britain will be asked to raise nearly $650,000,000 for its army, navy and air force during the next year.

Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is hard at work on his budget for the year 1925-1926, which he will present to the House of Commons in April. Beset on one hand with a widespread popular demand for reduction in taxation, Churchill finds himself harassed on the other hand by the officials of the fighting service, demanding increased expenditures. Just where the balance will be struck is difficult to say, but it seems certain that all of the fighting forces will be granted some increase in appropriations.

The budget estimates for the fighting service will be approximately as follows:

Navy	$325,000,000
Army	225,000,000
Air Force	100,000,000

Total $650,000,000

Navy Asks Much

The biggest increase that will be sought is by the Admiralty. During the present year the Admiralty had an appropriation of $275,000,000. During the forthcoming year the Admiralty wants $325,000,000.

This increase is asked for a number of new light cruisers, three submarines and an aircraft carrier, as well as several auxiliary ships.

The number of new cruisers the Admiralty will be allowed is still indeterminate, but the department is asking for eight and states that within the next ten years it will have to build thirty-seven new cruisers for replacements. It is proposed that there shall be an appropriation of approximately $8,000,000 for each new cruiser of 10,000 tons, equipped with eight-inch guns.

The Admiralty also wants that, as new destroyers have not been laid down since the war, during the next few years provisions must be made for extensive destroyer replacements.

Army Satisfied

The Army had an appropriation of $225,000,000 this year, and it is not expected that there will be any material increase asked, as it appears that this branch of the service is now on a more or less permanent basis.

During the regime of the Labor government there was a distinct improvement in the fighting services but the present Tory government is inclined to look with more favor on such appropriations.

Churchill's task is a difficult one, for the demand for a reduction in taxes is one that must be met, or the life of the government may be endangered. At the same time the demands of the services must not be spurned. It seems probable that he will find a middle course which will satisfy the public and the fighting service, at the expense of other government departments.

Huge Apple Orchard 80,000 Bearing Trees To Change Hands

BRIDGEVILLE, Del., March.—The thousand-acre orchard of the Delaware Apple company, with its 80,000 bearing trees, will be sold to George E. Saulsbury, of Baltimore, Md., who, it is said, has offered $33,300 for the land.

The property was to have been sold at public auction, but was withdrawn following Saulsbury's offer. He will resell it, giving half the amounts he receives, over the price he pays, to the stockholders of the company, now in the hands of a receiver.

Winter Mosquitoes Busy

Near Frankford, Del., mosquitoes appeared during the January hunting season in such numbers as to seriously annoy the duck hunters. These pests usually appear only in summer in that locality, and their presence during the cold spell cannot be accounted for. They hover over the salt marshes.

NEW METHOD HEALS RUPTURE

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery
Makes Truss or Operation
Unnecessary.

Kansas City, Mo. — (Special) — A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well known Hernia specialist of this city. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of Review-Tribune who writes him at his office, 1411 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.

Q. What is the size of the National Cathedral in Washington? L. B.

A. The dimensions will be: Length, 480 feet; breadth, 132 feet; height of nave, 95 feet; span of nave, 39 feet. Q. Are skis more efficient than snowshoes? If so, why are snowshoes used? R. A. C.

A. Owing to the thick forests of America, the snowshoe has been found to be more suitable for use than the ski which is preferred in less wooded regions. The large flat surface of the shoe furnishes a larger plane of resistance to the soft snow and by distributing the weight of the wearer over larger surface does not break the brittle crust on top of the snow, which makes progress without snowshoes impossible.

Runyon Says

Boxers Swarm West.
Drop Off Every Train.
A List of Transients.
Chief Meyers Heard From.
The Mexican Favorites.

BY DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Eastern boxers may soon outnumber the former lawns in Los Angeles.

Every incoming train unloads a cargo of cauliflower. Fortunately, Los Angeles is roomy, hospitable. The visitors can all find shelter.

If you are acquainted in Flitiana you will feel quite at home here. You see on almost every corner a familiar battered countenance. This writer in one day shook hands with no less than twenty boxers from different parts of the land.

He is informed that the California Boxing commission has already issued nearly 500 boxing licenses. Quite a colony of boxers is located in San Francisco.

It eventually will be a case of the survival of the fittest, of course. The men of real ability will be kept busy. The mediocre must move on.

Jim Dougherty, "The Baron of Liperville," and Scotty Monteth, of New York, have brought in the largest "stables" so far.

Dougherty is here with Bobby Barrett, red-headed slugger from Clifton Heights, Pa.; Alex. Hart, lightweight, and Jack Ketchel, a young middleweight.

Monteth arrived with Louis Kid Kapan, champion of the featherweight title, Jackie Snyder, Joe Ryder, and Jimmy Hutchinson. Monteth got in a quarrel with a boxing inspector at San Diego when one of his men was boxing there, which served to bring to light a former baseball hero of Manhattan, Chief John Tortes Meyers.

Meyers is a big Mission Indian who was one of McGraw's catchers for some years. He could "hit 'em a mile." The battery of Mathewson and Meyers was famous.

Chief Meyers was the boxing inspector with whom Monteth quarreled. He makes his home at El Paso.

Larney Lightenstein, of Chicago, who once managed the great Jimmy Clabby, Pesek, the wrestler, and other notables of the ring and mat, is here with Ernie Gosselman, Ray Miller and Lou Rollinger.

The latter is a slim, dark-haired boy not long out of high school, who may one day be a good heavyweight. Larney found him in Wisconsin, is developing him carefully. Lou Rollinger—a great name for a screen star—is just now a light heavyweight, but is growing steadily.

Larney is one manager who never tells you one of his boys can beat another. Ask him, and he says emphatically, "Well, I'd like to make the match."

Nearly every manager here has a heavyweight, just as in the East. And every manager with a heavyweight no doubt secretly believes he has the next champion.

That is all right. If a manager does not sincerely believe in the ability of his charges, he is wasting time with them.

Loney Austin, tall, young, pleasant, is here with Roy Cliff, a thin-legged shifty looking chap, who will fill out in a year to at least 190 pounds. He impresses the writer as a real prospect. Also Austin has the Berco brothers, from the lumber camps of the Northwest. Dode Berco is a real good welterweight, the other brother a recruit to the game.

Oddly enough, both the Berco boys are "side-wheelers," or more familiarly "southpaws."

King Solomon, a big Hebrew, who has been winning fights in Panama, is here with Wirt L. Ross, his manager. He has a pretty fair record. Harvey Perkins is another heavyweight from the Rocky Mountain West.

Kindly remember all these names. You may hear much of one of these chaps in the future. Never laugh at any heavyweight. If he is young and WILLING he has a chance.

It is quite reasonable to expect the Pacific Coast to produce the next heavyweight champion. James J. Corbett and James J. Jeffries were developed out here. So, to a certain extent, was Jack Dempsey.

Tommy Burns was produced as champion right here in Los Angeles. Jack Johnson did the fighting that gave him recognition as a title contender here. Jess Willard gained much of his fame here.

Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia middleweight, "Gentleman Gene" Delmont, of Memphis; George Manley, Denver middleweight; Pat Mills, of Ireland; Ace Hudkins, Omaha lightweight; Mike Dempsey, of Rochester—these are a few other flistic visitors in Los Angeles.

There is a large Mexican population in Los Angeles. The Mexicans are great pugilistic fans. Long before Colima's time they followed the famous Mexican lightweight, Joe Rivers, in force.

After Colima came Tony Fuent, the heavyweight, who was a terrific sensation, packing every house where he appeared. Fuent is now in training again, freed of his troubles with the law over his bout with Fred Fulton.

The writer will tell you more of him later.

Milton Takes Lead.
LOS ANGELES, Mar. 2.—Tommy Milton, Los Angeles, was but a head today in the battle for 1925 honors on American automobile speedways, having won yesterday's postponed Washington's birthday race of 250 miles in the Culver City bowl. His time averaged 126.89 miles per hour. He drove a Miller special.

College Yearlings Fall Before Highs' Court In Last Half

As a result of a second half spurt that swept their opponents from their feet, East Liverpool high school passers Saturday night easily won from the Bethany Freshmen, at Bethany, in their second clash of the season. The score was 31 to 18.

Bethany made 13 points in the first half and East Liverpool 8. The Bison yearlings made just three points in the second half and Coach Boone's team counted up 23.

The Buffalo Creek crew had all the best of the affair, as the score indicates, in the opening half, outplaying the high school lads consistently. But the East Liverpool cagers changed their style of play after the intermission, using a four-man offense and a five-man defense. They then proceeded to put the Freshies to rout. The Bethany five made only one field goal in the final half.

All the local team played good basketball, especially in the last half, and all had a hand in the scoring, English leading with six field goals and one foul. The playing of House, Idelman and Addy featured for the college team.

HOPPE AND SCHAEFER FIGHT FOR CUE TITLE

Nurmi Will Attempt To Better Mark for Mile and Half Race

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Paavo Nurmi, Finnish star, will make another assault on existing running records, when he will try to better the mark for the mile and a half race at the 71st regiment armory games tonight. Willie Blotola is entered in a different event in the meetings. Other stars who will compete are Ugo Fiergiorio, Italian walking champion, and Bill Plant, American walking champion.

Baptists and U.P. Passers Win Contests

Penn. Ave. M. E. and Chester Presbyterians Are Losers.

First Baptist 24, Penn. Ave. M. E. 17.
United Presbyterians 22, Chester Presbyterians 13.

These were results in Saturday night's Sunday school court circuit games at the Y. M. C. A.

The East End lads developed a better brand of passwork in their clash with the Baptists but the down town squad had Mackey who possessed a keen eye Saturday night rolled in nine field goals and two fouls.

The East Enders hopped into the lead at the outset, scoring three points before the enemy reached the basket. But the Baptists got busy and led at the end of the quarter, 4 to 3 maintaining the pace through the second period. Half-time found the Baptists ahead by the count of 11 to 8.

Both squads scored the same number of points in the third quarter, when the count stood 20 to 17. The East Enders tied up the score at 21 to 21 in the first few minutes of the final quarter but the Baptists spurred and reached the wire first, with Mackey and Rumberger scoring seven consecutive points. These two, with Kittridge and D. Fugate were the Baptist stars while Rose, McKim and Cook performed brilliantly for the losers.

The Chester Presbyterians played a better floor game than the U. P. quint but the latter squad made the most points. The count was 11 to 9 at the end of the first half. Of the total, 20 points, only four resulted from field goals, one apiece. The U. P. passers held the lead throughout the contest. Dickey was the U. P. star, with 17 points to his credit, while Calhoun, Hoffman and Berg also played well. Wallace, Haney and Bartley were the chief performers for the losers.

Play Last Matches Today Before Their Own Meeting Tomorrow.

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—The international 182 ballroom tournament went into its semi-final stages today with Willie Hoppe, champion, and Jake Schaefer, his most formidable opponent, playing their last they will clash tomorrow.

Schaefer, who so far has furnished the sensations of the tournament, will meet H. Sulzaki, Jap star, this afternoon and Hoppe will take on Edouard Horemans, Belgium, tonight. If both Schaefer and Hoppe win today Hoppe must defeat Schaefer tomorrow to tie him for the championship and win the play-off to retain his title.

On paper today Schaefer had the best championship possibilities. His grand average for the tournament was 92.49 and his high run, the world's record 499 which he rolled off in his match with Erich Hagelacher. Hoppe's grand average was 31.49 and his high run, 197, next to the lowest of any player in the tourney. Horemans has a grand average of 49.19 and a high run of 212.

There is also the possibility of a three handed tie between Erich Hagelacher, Hoppe and Schaefer. If Schaefer loses either his game today or tomorrow and Hoppe wins both his contests, while Hagelacher is victor in his remaining game, the three men will be tied with four victories and one defeat.

Bill Watkins Will Referee At Tourney

Veteran Arbiter Selected for Buckhannon Games.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 2.—Picking a referee for the West Virginia State High School basketball tournament that will meet with the approval of all contestants is no small task. The referee is one important factor of the annual state games, and no small amount of the success of the annual tourneys depend on the eleventh man on the floor during the championship games.

For several years the state tournament has been refereed by two officials, for the reason that two courts were used to play the preliminary contests on. Last year Cal Bolster of Pittsburgh and Bill Watkins, two of the most prominent floor officials in the eastern section of the country, were selected to officiate the state games. The work of these officials won the highest praise of players, coaches and spectators.

To date State Tourney headquarters have filed the applications of 22 officials who desire to work the state games this year. All are good officials and doubtless anyone of the lot could handle the games satisfactorily.

Because of his long and satisfactory service handling the West Virginia tournament, and for the reason

Roamers Beat M. E. Juniors in Close Engagement, 22-18

At the "Y" Saturday afternoon the Roamers sent the First M. E. Juniors down to defeat by the score of 22 to 18. During the first half the Roamers had it all over the church lads, leading by the score of 17 to 4.

In the second half conditions were reversed, the church lads outplaying the Roamers and almost tying the score. Lindell's field goal in the final few minutes of play put the game in the victory zone for the Roamers. Lindell, Bloor and Wildblood starred for the Roamers, while Horwell, Small and Menge performed the best for the church lads.

The Babcock-Wilcox players will tackle Laughlin 6 in the first contest at 8 o'clock. The Crookery City and Potters squads clash at 8:45.

but but one official will be used this year, choice falls on Bill Watkins of East Liverpool, O., to officiate the state title contests which will be held here, March 20 and 21. His selection meets with the unanimous approval by all officials, players and coaches over the state, connected with West Virginia scholastic basketball.

WILL TAKE ONE MORE SHOT AT BIG MONEY

Leonard Expected to Come Back This Summer for Scrap With Mickey Walker.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The flistic pot, overflowing with choice and selected cauliflower, will come to a boil within the next 24 hours when Benny Leonard, the eminent actor, arrives in town almost coincident with the expected decision of the state athletic commission on the status of Harry Willis and Tom Gibbons. Leonard will be with us today and it is intimated that overtures will be made looking toward a possible reconsideration of his announced retirement from the main art of so-called in favor of the main art of hokum.

The commission is expected to proclaim its attitude tomorrow toward the proposal that Gibbons and Willis be matched in a two-man elimination affair, with the winner to meet Jack Dempsey. Rumors on this subject are many and varied. One of them is to the effect that official displeasure has been voiced against matching Gibbons and Willis at all. Another has it that the match is in the well and favorably known bag. A third alleges that Willis, having filed the first challenge, is at least to get his shot at Dempsey without further preamble. Commissioner Jim Farley is known to favor this course of action with Muldoon and Brower holding out for a Gibbons-Willis meeting.

As for Benjamin, an actor owes a duty to his public and his visit ostensibly is prompted by a desire to discharge the great obligation. But Billy Gilson's publicity department has been hinting rather broadly to the possibility that Benjamin may step out with Mickey Walker this summer and it is not altogether unlikely that the great man will combine business with pleasure, the latter being represented by the acceptance of the $200,000 contract that is alleged to go with the Walker meeting.

However, there may be something sinister in the air here. Loose conversation about emerging from retirement will cause no depreciation of the general esteem in which Benjamin's act is held. Neither will it injure the success of the moving picture, which I am assured he is soon to make.

We have been led to believe, however, that Leonard really means to stake himself to one more shot at the big money. Close friends of the ex-champion have assured me that he will fight Walker this summer and until something definite develops to the contrary, I have no alternative but to believe what I hear, particularly since the story deals in freight train numbers for the purse.

Vigilance Committee Warning Prevents Swindle of Merchant

Old "Spanish Prisoner" Game, Used to Fleece Hundreds, is Attempted Here.

The National Vigilance committee, co-operating with the Chamber of commerce, prevented a local business man from being victimized in a swindle, it developed today.

Several days ago, a letter was received by the man from a party who claimed that he was imprisoned in Spain because of bankruptcy proceedings, although he holds more than $300,000.00 worth of property in the United States. The "prisoner" offered one-third of his interests to the business man if he will assist him in obtaining this money. An answer to the cablegram, to be sent to a friend in Madrid, Spain, was requested.

The communication was immediately turned over to the Chamber of Commerce, which referred it to the National Vigilance committee's office in New York.

An investigation proved the plan to be the old style "Spanish prisoner game" which it is alleged to have been to fleece scores of thousands of dollars. A bulletin explaining the scheme has been sent out to more than 10,000 Chamber of Commerce and advertising clubs of the United States.

"This scheme has been operated for a score or more years and it is strange to say that instances have risen where persons in this country have been 'bitten,' says a letter from the committee to the local chamber.

Tuberculosis Death Rate Takes Toll of Industrial Workers

CHICAGO, March 2. — Tuberculosis kills three times as many industrial workers as it does office and professional workers in the United States, declared A. W. Fryle, supreme commander of the Macabees, in an address here at a fraternal welfare conference.

"The death rates from tuberculosis among industrial employees is 12 times as high as among farm workers," said Mr. Fryle. "Mortality from pneumonia is twice as high among industrial workers as it is among non-industrial workers. The degenerative diseases, such as kidney and organic heart disease, show a death rate three times as high among industrial workers as among other groups."

Wage disputes in the British coal fields are becoming so frequent that mine owners have to carry large reserves of coal and often are overstocked, all of which has made English fuel prices fluctuate more than normally.

KILLS CRIPPLE, TAKES POISON

FORMER SALINEVILLE PHYSICIAN, WHO SLEW DAUGHTER, NEAR DEATH

Dr. H. E. Blazer, 61, Wellknown in East Liverpool District, Administers Deadly Potion to Invalid Daughter to Forestall Possibility She Might Become Object of Charity, is Belief.

VICTIM'S AFFLICTION GREATER THAN HIS SCIENCE COULD CURE

Wife Died About Two Years Ago in Durango, Colorado. Where Family Moved From Salineville 15 Years Ago, Leaving Child Who Was Unable to Talk or Walk.

Dr. H. E. Blazer, 61, former Salineville physician and for many years a Columbiana county reform worker, is dying today in a Denver, Colorado, hospital from the effects of poison, which he took after administering a fatal dose to his invalid daughter, Hazel, 32, at their home in Durango, a suburb of Denver.

The physician's fear that his daughter, to whom he was very devoted, might become an object of charity, should he die, is believed to have prompted the murder and his attempted suicide.

Dr. Blazer and his family left Salineville about 15 years ago to locate in Durango. While living in the mining village in the western part of the county, the physician had been unusually active in the cause of prohibition and is said to have been responsible for the banishment of saloons from the village before he went west.

His daughter, Hazel, has been unable to talk or walk since birth. Two years ago, Mrs. Ida Potts Blazer, wife and mother, died at Durango, leaving the care of her crippled daughter to the physician. Every possible effort had been made to cure the invalid, suffering from a spinal trouble, but without success.

ARMY PLANES REACH MIAMI

Chief Refuses Authority for One-day Return to Selfridge Field.

MIAMI, Fla., March 2.—The Army planes that set out Saturday from Selfridge field, Mich., upon what was intended to be a non-stop flight to Miami, but what became a series of mishaps, soared over the city at 12:35 p. m. today. They hopped off this morning from Macon Ga. Eleven of the twelve planes that set out were in the group that reached Miami.

MACON, Ga., March 2.—The squadron of airplanes which Saturday left Selfridge field, Michigan, for a non-stop flight to Miami, Florida, hopped off here today at 8:35 on the last lap of the flight.

Lieutenant Whitehead's plane developed motor trouble shortly after he left the field and he was forced to land again to make repairs. He departed twenty minutes behind the main squadron and said he expected to join them before they reached Miami.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Major General Patrick, chief of the Army Air service, today refused to grant authority for Major T. J. Lanphier to return in one day from Miami, Fla., to Selfridge field, Mich.

The squadron will fly from Miami to Augusta, Ga., on March 4, and from Augusta to Selfridge field, on March 5.

Hoffstedt's body, with every bone broken, was picked up from the wreckage.

MAN SHOTS, WIFE, CHILD AND HIMSELF

"Captain Blood," Sabatini's Novel, In Review-Tribune

"Captain Blood," the most popular of Rafael Sabatini's novels, will be published by The Review-Tribune. The first installment will appear on Saturday, March 7.

Dr. Frank Crane, the noted writer, in reviewing the book said: "I do not hesitate to say that this is the best story I have read since 'The Count of Monte Cristo.' It is a story of historic merit and deals with the romantic life of an Irish medic, who becomes a pirate after being sold as a slave in the Barbadoes.

Sabatini has written some of the day's best sellers, many of which have been made into great photodramas. Among his most recent works are: "Scaramouche," "The Sea Hawk," "Mistress Widdling," and "Bradley's the Magnificent."

MISSING BRIDE NOW BELIEVED RIVER VICTIM

Police Abandon Foul Play Theory; Suicide is Hinted.

AID IS SOUGHT

Mrs. Margaret Glenn, 17, Disappeared Last Tuesday.

The disappearance of Mrs. Margaret Glenn, colored, 17-year old bride of Raymond Glenn, of West Eighth street, who has not been seen since last Tuesday night, continued to baffle the police today, after a five-day search.

Although it was first believed that the girl had met with foul play, the suicide theory was strengthened today after the police consulted friends of the girl. Relatives of Mrs. Glenn have abandoned hopes of finding the girl alive.

Ralph Branson, step-father of the missing bride, has offered a reward for information leading to the recovery of the girl, dead or alive. The police have asked officials at Toronto, Steubenville, Wheeling and other nearby communities to be on the lookout for the body which may be found in the river.

Mrs. Glenn disappeared about 9 o'clock last Tuesday night after she left her husband's home in West Eighth street. Glenn told the police that he watched his wife across the street in the direction of her mother's home, about four blocks away. She married Glenn the day before she disappeared.

Dr. J. C. Broomfield, Conference Leader, Visits M. P. Church

Dr. Broomfield, who is the first traveling president in the conference, was elected at the annual meeting of the conference last September. He was pastor of the Fairmont Methodist Protestant church at the time.

Dr. Broomfield occupied the pulpit at the Sunday evening service, when the annual thank offering service for the Woman's Missionary society was held. He left for his home in Fairmont this morning.

48-HOUR DEBATE

Cramton Bill First to Run Gauntlet of Oratory.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The legislative machinery of congress was paralyzed this afternoon when a bloc of "liberals" launched a filibuster in the senate to prevent action on the Cramton prohibition bill.

The measure provoked the first conflict between the "wets" and "drys" at the present session and brought to a standstill all legislative activity.

Under the leadership of Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri, the "wets" planned to hold the floor until the bill was withdrawn. They refused to permit even a vote on the motion to consider the bill.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The sixty-eighth congress entered its final week today with the legislative program hopelessly despatched by factional filibusters.

In the 48 hours remaining before the compulsory adjournment March 4, administration leaders hoped merely to finally enact all appropriation bills and put the finishing touches on the $43,000,000 river and harbors bill.

This program was even endangered by demands from several groups in the senate for final action on controversial bills. Leaders planned to meet this situation by giving each faction an opportunity to demonstrate its strength. In this classification were such measures as the Cramton prohibition bill, the McFadden banking act, the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill and the Fernald bill for purchasing the Cape Cod ship canal. Indications were that none of the drives would be successful.

Farm Relief Hope Gone.

The Cramton bill was given the first opportunity in the senate under an agreement to vote today on a motion to begin its immediate consideration. The bill, which would create a separate prohibition bureau, was bitterly opposed by the liberals in congress.

Walter Clapsaddle's Auto Damaged When It Skids Into Curb

An automobile, belonging to Walter Clapsaddle, St. Clair avenue milk dealer, was badly damaged when it skidded into the curb on St. Clair avenue, near the W. H. Travis grocery, at 8 o'clock last night.

Clapsaddle, unaware of the icy condition of the hill, started down the grade without chains. The machine got beyond his control and struck, demolishing two wheels and stripping the car of its fenders and one running board.

The driver was unhurt. The machine was towed to a garage by the McIlroy Brothers wrecker.

A sedan, owned by C. W. Hoffmann, American Railway Express agent, was also damaged when it skidded into a pole on East Fifth street, near Sugar street, at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. No one was injured.

INAUGURAL HOSTS BEGIN TO DESCEND ON NATIONAL CAPITAL IN EARNEST

Despite Coolidge's Dictum of Economy and Simplicity, Washington Takes on Carnival Atmosphere.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—The inaugural hosts began to descend on the National Capital in earnest today, and despite the Coolidgean dictum of economy and simplicity the town began to take on the carnival atmosphere that always attends the quadrennial spectacle.

The temporary bleachers from which thousands view the passage of President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes through Pennsylvania avenue to the capital were completed today, and workmen put the finishing touches on the small enclosed platform in front of the White House, from which the executive will review the modest inaugural parade.

Hotels are filled already, and the

Father Carries Family Bible for Coolidge's Oath

PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 2.—With the old Coolidge family Bible tucked in a corner of his suitcase, Col. John C. Coolidge, father of the President, today started for the inauguration at Washington. It is on this family Bible that the oath of office is to be sworn by President Coolidge.

Pomp and ceremony were missing from the colonel's departure and he took along only his "best" black suit for the March 4 ceremony.

FISH AND GAME UNIT MEETING

The proposed state park and fish hatchery on the site of the Guilford dam will be discussed at a meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association to be held in court room No. 2 at the county court house, Lisbon, tonight.

The meeting will be open to all persons who are interested in the establishment of the park. The bill has been reported favorably by committee and probably will come up for a vote in the house at an early date, according to State Representative R. W. Emmons.

Dr. Chester Reed, seismologist of the Museum of Natural History here, judged from his seismograph records that the disturbance came either from the Saguenay river mouth section or else from off the Maine coast.

PERMANENT CHANGE IN EARTH'S CRUST IS ONE RESULT OF QUAKE FELT HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

The East Liverpool district was slightly rocked by the earthquake which alarmed northeastern section of the United States and Canada at 9:23 o'clock Saturday night.

At least one house on Second street here was shaken, while the vibration was also felt in Chester and Wellsville, according to reports.

One Wellsville family claimed mantles on gas lights were broken by the shock. At first, they presumed the house was rocked by the vibration of a passing train. Midland also reported evidence of the tremor.

Hundreds on the streets in the up-town business zone here during the two-minute duration of the quake had no knowledge of any unusual happening.

No Damage in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, March 2.—A permanent change in the crust of the earth in the northeastern section of the United States and Canada is one of the results of Saturday night's quake, which sent hundreds of workers in skyscrapers to the streets in fear of their lives, Rev. F. L. Odenbach, observer at John Carroll university, announced today.

Father Odenbach said the center of the quake had not yet been determined. But he believed it to have been somewhere in the lower St. Lawrence valley or in northern Maine or New Hampshire.

Investigation today discloses that not one penny's worth of property damage resulted in Cleveland.

Scientists Disagree.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Scientists still were unable today to agree upon exactly where originated the subterranean disturbance that caused North America to quake Saturday night from Canada to Florida and even beyond the Mississippi river.

Some were of the opinion that the earthquake was provoked by a shifting of sub-strata rock near the Saguenay river's mouth in Quebec. Others thought they had traced it to a region near the great lakes.

Still others put the seat of the shivering off the New England coast, while some estimated that southeastern Pennsylvania was the spot or origin.

Prof. Douglass W. Johnson, of Columbia university's physiography department, who recently was awarded the $250 A. Cressy Morrison prize for his discovery of a "fault" running 250 miles from the Bay of Fundy toward Massachusetts, sets, supposes that the quaking originated in that area.

Great Lakes Source, Some Think. Father Tondorf of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., on the other hand, told students of the phenomenon that he believed the quivering to have originated about the great lakes.

Dr. Chester Reed, seismologist of the Museum of Natural History here, judged from his seismograph records that the disturbance came either from the Saguenay river mouth section or else from off the Maine coast.

BORGLUM HITS BACK AT STONE MOUNTAIN FOES

Sculptor Fights to Complete Memorial to Confederacy.

FURNISHES BOND

Blames "Provincial Minds" for Interference With Work.

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, wanted in Georgia on a malicious mischief charge, has been here today what he characterized as a fight to complete the Stone Mountain memorial to the confederacy despite "small-minded enemies."

He arrived here without baggage from Greensboro, N. C., where he was arrested for the Georgia authorities and where he gave bail.

The sculptor vowed he "would not be in jail for the rest of his life," rather than be denied a chance to complete his dream of nine years.

Borglum went into conference with wealthy friends here on the best means of proceeding. He attributed his discharge by the association sponsoring the gigantic sculpture to interference of "provincial minds."

Trying To Crucify Art
"Certainly, I may be guilty but only technically," he said of the charges that led to his arrest. "I destroyed my inaccurate working model for the greatest piece of sculpture in the world's history because I believe in the right of an artist to his own creation."

"Let my enemies, who think a local stone cutter or a shoemaker or a journeyman printer can do the work of a sculptor, go as far as they like. I am ready for the fight."

"Why, they're trying to crucify me. I don't mind that so much. But they're trying to crucify art and ruin the greatest expression of a people's faith ever put on stone."

Demands Accounting
"They fired me a fortnight after I had served notice on them. I intended to ask an accounting of their stewardship of the Stone Mountain funds."

"According to their own figures they were spending almost as much, dollar for dollar, for their office overhead as my boys and I were spending on the mountain side. I wanted to know how come? It's been a lifelong habit with me to want to know 'how come?'"

"Unquestionably they did not dare answer."

Evangelist Ellis Announces Sick in Services on Sunday
Three meetings were conducted Sunday by Evangelist I. M. Ellis, of Bethany, Oklahoma, in connection with the revival campaign under the auspices of the Church of the Nazarenes, in their East Fifth street quarters.

The sick were appointed in connection with the afternoon service when the evangelist preached on the subject, "Is This the Body of the Lord?" The church members were filled to capacity at the evening service. About 15 persons responded to the invitation at the close of the sermon on "Shall I Do With Jesus, Who is Called the Christ?" Special music was rendered by the orchestra and by Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth Wells, of Indianapolis, Ind., talented musicians.

Miss Myler, a Cleveland Sunday school worker, gave an illustrated talk at the Sunday school hour. The meetings will continue throughout the week. First of a series of five Bible readings, dealing with the book of Revelation explaining the prophecies, will be given at tonight's service.

Filibusters Block

who threatened a prolonged filibuster to prevent its enactment.
Senator Reed of Missouri led the opposition.

Under the circumstances the president's spokesmen gave up all hope for enactment of farm relief legislation. They found the house and senate warring over the methods of providing relief, the house favoring the Dickinson bill and the senate the Capper-Haughen act, which was recommended by the president's agricultural commission. As a result agriculture legislation was doomed.

One Silver Lining
The administration saw but one silver lining in the legislative cloud. This was a poll of the senate which showed that Charles B. Warren, of Detroit, will be confirmed in his appointment as Attorney General whenever it reaches a vote. The poll indicated that many Democrats, led by Senator Overman, Democrat of North Carolina, would join with the administration forces in confirming Warren. The vote, however, will be postponed until the special session of the new senate beginning Thursday.

To partly relieve the legislative jam, administration leaders also decided to postpone action on both the Isle of Pines treaty and the Lausanne treaty until the special session. It was said both treaties would be disposed of in a few days when the senate meets to confirm presidential appointments.

Former Chancellor Marx Most Frequently Mentioned as Successor of Ex-saddle Maker.

BERLIN, Mar. 2.—While the Nationalist press continued today to throw mud on the record of the late President Ebert, whom the reactionaries blame for the fall of the empire, the bulk of the German nation participated in nationwide mourning for the dead leader.

The Wilhelmstrasse was thronged all day long with thousands who came to pay homage to the former saddle maker who became Germany's first president. Through the silk curtains behind the great windows they could see the flickering candles at his bier. Two Reichwehr soldiers stood at rigid attention under the huge black-draped chandeliers in the entrance of the palace.

U. S. Flag at Half Mast
Diagonally across from the palace the stars and stripes fluttered at half mast over the American embassy, the first of the foreign legations to halt its colors Saturday in token of sympathy.

The official program of mourning includes a memorial ceremony at the presidential palace Wednesday afternoon where Chancellor Luther will enjoin the leadership of the president. Then the solemn cortege will pass down under Den Linden, through the Brandenburg gate to the Reichstag, where the nation, through the deputies, will bid farewell to Ebert.

The body will be taken Wednesday evening to Heidelberg where the funeral will be held Thursday morning.
Dr. Eckener Mentioned.
Meanwhile a hot controversy over Ebert's successor was in full swing. The most frequently mentioned candidate seems to be former Chancellor Marx, who can carry the votes of all the middle parties—centrists, social democrats, democrats—and probably many other parties.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, hero of the transatlantic flight of the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, whose prospects as a presidential choice were first revealed by International News Service in November, is prominently mentioned as the only man remote from party strife.

A. B. MAY, TAX EXPERT, HERE

Federal Agent Will Assist Collector Fred George.

A. B. May, an income tax expert working out of the Cleveland district revenue office, arrived here today to aid taxpayers in making their returns on earnings for 1924.

May will assist Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue Fred George at his office in the basement of the postoffice building. He and George will be on duty every day, except Sunday, up to and including March 15, the last day returns can be made to avoid a penalty.

As March 15 falls on Sunday taxpayers have been given one day additional to make their returns. The office hours will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. It is likely that the tax collector's office will also be open in the evening during the last two or three days.

Married men or those with dependents who made less than $2,500 last year, are not required to file an income tax return this year, the limit having been raised from $2,000 to $2,500. Single men, whose earnings were $1,000 or more, must file a return.

Collector George today emphasized the fact that May's services are free and that no form of income tax is too difficult for him to handle. He was sent here from the Cleveland office mainly to assist corporations, partnerships and business firms in making their returns.

Permanent Change

University seismologist, was inclined to think that the source of the jarring was around the eastern end of the great lakes chain.

Prof. Alan N. Bateman, New York University geologist, thought the quake traceable to a sinking of the New England coast.

Nearly all students of these phenomena were in accord on one thing. That was that it would take considerable time, during which all available records would be studied, to ascertain with any certainty whence came the quake and what happened there to cause it.

Cablegrams from England. Cablegrams said the quivering had been registered in England. All these data must be compiled and compared, the scientists said, before anything definite can be learned.

Messages continued today to come into New York from many parts of the affected area, telling of excitement among peoples of different communities.

No small part of the tenement population in this city's lower east side still was fidgety. Incipient riots broke out there with the first shocks Saturday night. Apprehension was general among many who remembered the manner in which Manhattan has been burrowed from end to end with tunnels and tubes and how its buildings shoot skyward from small bases.

Seismologists and geologists, with few exceptions, gave assurances that study had convinced them and many of their ilk before that the rock that makes Manhattan Island is of such texture and so deeply set into the earth and sea that it is not unlikely it ever will be jarred sufficiently to bring its skyscrapers tumbling down.

HOLD SUSPECT IN GUN FIGHT

Miller Deetz Faces Charge of Shooting to Wound.

Charged with resisting arrest and shooting with intent to wound and maim, Miller Deetz of Berlin, Holmes county, arrested by county authorities after a gun battle in Hanoverton, last Friday night, has been held for grand jury action under $2,000 bond.

Deetz and Vincent Miller, who claims to be from Navarre, Ohio, and who is now in the Central Clinic hospital at Salem with 18 backshots in his back and a bullet wound above his kidneys, have been seeking for the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power company as linemen between Wellsville and Sallenville.

Deetz told county authorities that Miller had purchased liquor before they left Wellsville in their Ford roadster Friday evening. He claimed that when they reached Hanoverton the car was traveling at such a rate of speed that they were unable to make the sharp curve in the road and continued straight through the town for a short distance.

"I then backed the car to the turn in the road," said Deetz. "A man leaped upon the running board and told us we were under arrest for speeding. Thinking that some one was trying to rob us, I pulled my gun and started down the road. I again turned the car and started back toward the Lincoln highway."

The gun battle followed as the car raced through the town. Two tires were shot from the machine and the radiator punctured. The car was ditched at a point between Kensington and East Palestine. Miller, badly wounded with backshot and a bullet in his back, walked to East Road, Chester and was arrested in the office of Dr. Taylor, who was dressing his wounds. Deetz returned to Kensington, where he was arrested by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Kindsvater.

Deetz claims he is the only support of his widowed mother.

Inaugural Hosts

lobbies bustling with new senators, new congressmen and their friends and relatives. Indications are, however, that there will not be the rush and scramble for hotel accommodations that other inaugurations have seen.

This is due partly to the fact that the capital has erected a half dozen new hotels since four years ago, and partly to the lack of ostentation that has been thrown around the Coolidge inauguration.

Dawes And His Pipe Arrive.
General Dawes, accompanied by his family, arrived today. He was met by a delegation in silk hats and morning coats. The general himself presented in such formal appearance. He wore his slouch hat and puffed the inevitable pipe. The general is averse to "plug hats," and he may follow the precedent set by "Uncle Joe" Cannon in riding in the van of the inaugural procession in ordinary business clothes.

A round of social entertainments will feature the week in the capital. Such an imposing list of "affairs" has been arranged, as to move the general to remark to his friends, "Well, they're not going to make a tea-bout out of me."

Seventeen governors and their aids and escorts were arriving today and tomorrow. Most of these will march in the inaugural parade.

Overcoats in Order.
The weather bureau has slightly revised its forecast for Wednesday. The weather will be clear, as originally promised, but instead of blamy spring-like weather conducive to a display of Easter finery, overcoats will be more in order. The forecast now is fair and cold.

The gaiety which Washington will engage in throughout the week, will not be reflected at the White House. In his own home, at least, President Coolidge can enforce the edict of simplicity.

The president's father, John C. Coolidge, will arrive tonight to see his son inaugurated. Miss Lamira Goodhus, mother of Mrs. Coolidge, has already arrived. Tomorrow, John Coolidge, the president's son will come home from Amherst. There will be only a family party at the executive mansion.

Ada May, Dancing and Singing Star, Here Tuesday Evening

"Henry W. Savage's Musical Comedy Success, 'Lollipop' Comes to Ceramic Theatre.

Ada May, as small Ada-Mae Weeks has been rechristened so her name will fit the electric light signs of "Lollipop," has unmistakably "arrived." As featured player of Henry W. Savage's newest musical production, which comes to the Ceramic Theatre Tuesday evening, this young dancing comedienne sings and plays a long acting role with the same enthusiasm that has made her dancing a delight.

She began her stage career seven years ago, as a solo dancer on the Ziegfeld Roof. She was then fourteen. She has since played in "Listen Lester" and "The O'Brien Girl." In "Lollipop" she plays the part of an orphan girl who reads a book that gives her faith in her own "dynamic personality" and in her ability to be "rich, beautiful and free." Good luck and a lot of laughter follow this orphan's experiment with the faith cure.

As a dancing comedienne, Ada-May sets a stepping pace that only the liveliest of dance artists can follow. All kinds and every kind of dancing are displayed in "Lollipop" with two separate dancing ensembles, made up of American girls and boys and a new unit of the famous Tiller Girls from London, imported by Mr. Savage especially for "Lollipop."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET
NEW YORK, March 2.—Industrial stocks, including the oil, moved up briskly to higher price levels in the early trading today. After an advance of from 1 to 3 points in opening quotations some of the best known speculative performers, headed by American Can, rushed up to new high prices for the year on unusually heavy trading. The high priced equipment stocks and specialties like Texas, Gulf Sulphur, Standard Milling, Famous Players and North American company continued the forward movement inaugurated last week. American Can topped 17 1/2 and shattered its best previous high record and so did American Locomotive and a score of active stocks in this period.

There was every indication that the anticipated move of oil stocks had finally been started. All of the independent oil shares which figured in the week end rally were in good demand at higher prices, with some stocks in this group making up new 1925 price records.

Higher posted prices for Mid-Continent Crude Oil are anticipated in the fields since the large buyers are paying 40 to 50 cents a barrel premium. January reports show another considerable decline in stored Petroleum Pan American R. rushed up to above $1 on heavy trading on reports that powerful eastern interests were about with the company. Independent Oil to become identified in an active war and Gas topped 40 for the first time this year and gains of a point or less were made by Marland, Phillips, Caden, Skelly-Shell Union, California Petroleum, Fire Oil, Sinclair, Union Oil of California and Pacific Oil. Atlantic refining gained 2 points on early active trading.

England is Fighting Smuggling of Booze; Brandy is Favorite

DOVER, England, March—New York may have its well-known "Rum Row," but England has a phantom "Rum Row."

Bobbing lights off the south coast of England on dark nights may or may not be the lights of smugglers' craft, but it seems to be a fact that a considerable amount of liquid refreshments is being brought into England, without the payment of duty.

Brandy from France is a favorite cargo with the smuggler, though there are many other products which the smuggler finds it profitable to run in.

The Customs officials have established a patrol system and are doing their utmost to check smuggling, but just as the rumships off New York are able to elude the government authorities even so England's south coast smugglers baffle her Customs patrol.

White House Economy

It is pretty hard on the president of the United States to have to use an old, worn-out eraser when he wants a new one. It may be hard on his family, or at least on White House retainers, to weigh out flour and sugar in the kitchen, and count the eggs. The discarding of paper drinking cups may be criticised as unhygienic. White House competitions, too, for the best economy suggestions among employees, may seem undignified.

Nevertheless the public, while smiling at such unusual conduct in that quarter, does it with good-natured approval. The press, while having its little jokes about an economical president, realizes that while any particular item of economy may seem petty or absurd, the general effect of such a policy is good. What the president is after is to set the entire government a conspicuous object lesson in thrift. For that purpose the little things may be as impressive as the big things.

Congress needs such a lesson. Every governmental department needs it. And to tell the truth, the whole nation needs it. There is no such orgy of extravagance as there was during the late and unlamented war boom, yet nearly every American family is wasting money or wasting things that are worth money. If the White House example were followed this year in every American home, it would save the people a billion or two of dollars.

Subsidized Emigration

The British government is going to pay Australia for taking British immigrants. It has agreed to pay about $5,000,000 for every 14,000. That means a subsidy to Australia for letting Englishmen in. It means a bonus of about $350 going with every immigrant.

The money is to be used by Australia for public improvements such as roads, railways, land clearing and housing, waterworks, etc., in the sections where the immigrants settle. It is hoped in this manner to develop unoccupied lands and give the new immigrants opportunities equal to those of native Australians.

If Uncle Sam had only thought of something like that, in the days when he was getting a million immigrants a year! Australia must be a good bargainer; or else England must be more burdened with surplus population than the world has realized. Ordinarily new countries look upon immigrants as highly desirable in themselves, as an economic asset, even though they come penniless. This has been so particularly in the British colonies, as regards British immigration.

So here is something new and thought-provoking in immigration policies. And the idea may yet be applied in the United States. It might be that a country like Italy, overpopulated and deliberately encouraging the exodus of its people to prosperous lands like America, would pay for their acceptance, because of the double benefit of fewer mouths to feed in the mother land and large sums of money sent back home by the emigrants.

Billions for Building

The forecast of the Architectural Forum a year ago was $5,560,000,000 of new construction in the United States during 1924. The actual building ran about $200,000,000 above that figure. The Forum, then, may be accepted as a fairly accurate prophet when it promises $5,000,000,000 of new building for 1925.

"Will the country never get built up?" people ask. Not for a while yet, at any rate. Architects explain that the normal building amounts to $3,000,000,000 to $3,500,000,000 a year, and that there is still a building deficit of about $5,000,000,000 to make up. On that basis it will take about three years more of current activity to bring the country back to normal.

But arriving there, the American people may not be satisfied with "normal" accommodations, and may insist on going right ahead and providing homes, offices, hotels, factories, stores, churches, schools, etc., according to a new and higher standard. Present tendencies suggest that.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

EXECUTIVE AIDS TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A fundamental reform of congressional procedure whereby representatives of the executive departments would be permitted to participate in debates in the halls of congress is being considered with a possibility of action at the next session.

Such a reform would be the first great departure from the original theory of the operation of our form of government since the constitution was framed. That theory provided for three distinct branches of the government, the executive, legislative and judicial. The proposed reform would bring about a limited mingling of the legislative and executive.

It is of special interest to note that but a few months ago another attack on the tripartite separation was proposed when Senator La Follette advocated that congress be permitted to review decisions of the supreme court of the United States. That proposal would have mingled the legislative and judicial functions. If both proposals were adopted, the original theory would be broken down to a considerable extent.

There is scant expectation that the La Follette proposal regarding supreme court review will be adopted, but the other proposal seems to have better chances. Two bills already have been introduced in congress to effect the change. Representative Jacobstein, of New York, and Representative Mooney, of Ohio, have introduced substantially similar bills which would give the heads of departments, boards, bureaus and commissions the right to appear in congress and participate in debates and answer questions.

Two systems have been proposed to work out such a plan. The first would provide that the president on the head of each department should select from members of congress a man who would discharge the function of special representative of the particular department in congress. This would be similar to the system of parliamentary secretaries in vogue in Great Britain and many other countries. The man chosen would occupy two positions. He would be a member of the cabinet, or of congress and senate, and would also be parliamentary secretary for some department. Half of his time would be spent on departmental business and half on purely congressional business. His chief function would be a mingling of the two; that is, he would handle in congress the affairs of the department to which he would be assigned.

AGAINST THE CONSTITUTION

It is not likely that this system will be adopted as an amendment to the constitution would be required to put it into effect. The constitution requires that members of congress occupy no other government positions. There is also a statute which provides that no person may draw two or more salaries from the government if their aggregate exceeds $2,500.

A more likely system suggested provides that congress by special act permit either the heads of the departments or their representatives to occupy seats and take part in debate. Under such a system, presumably, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, for instance, would appoint Undersecretary of the Treasury Winston as parliamentary secretary for the treasury. Mr. Winston would attend sessions of congress and committee meetings whenever any legislation affecting that department or even affecting any appropriations of money should be under consideration.

Many advantages are decided by proponents of the plan to reside in it. It is pointed out that under the present system members of congress are not in possession of the information they should have regarding the functioning of the executive departments. Former Secretary of Commerce Redfield, who also was previously a member of the house of representatives, in his recent book, "With Congress and Cabinet," says:

"The halls of congress are not a source of accurate knowledge concerning the government."

The point is made that frequently congress refuses appropriations for departmental work because it does not understand the situation. Were a representative of the affected department on hand during debate on the measure he could briefly explain the work and straighten out the whole matter. This is an age of congressional investigation. It is contended that often one of the house of congress will go through the process of adopting formal resolutions asking for information on some subject when, were a representative of the department involved present, the whole matter could be disposed of in 10 or 15 minutes, saving the time and money of both congress and the department.

WAS URGED LONG AGO

It is interesting to note that such a proposal has been urged in the past. As far back as 1864 a select committee of congress brought in a report favoring admission to the halls of congress of heads of executive departments. Again in 1881 a senate committee brought in a similar report. This senate committee had as members some of the most distinguished senators who have ever sat in the chamber. Among them were James G. Blaine, W. B. Allison, John J. Ingalls and O. H. Platt. These men favored the mingling of the legislative and executive functions to the extent of having department representatives participate in the proceedings of congress.

In the early days of the republic, department heads were considered to have the privilege of the floor of congress. Then Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury, made his famous report on the public credit, he appeared in person. Thomas Jefferson, as secretary of state and as president of the United States, appeared in person before the congress. General Knox, secretary of war, is recorded as having been present on notable occasions and to have submitted matters to the consideration of the congress, answering questions and participating in debate.

In fact, these early precedents prompted Woodrow Wilson in his determination to deliver his messages to congress in person.

President Wilson favored such a plan as has been outlined. As long ago as 1893, Mr. Wilson wrote:

"The degree of separation now maintained between the executive and legislative branches of our government cannot long be preserved without very serious inconvenience resulting."

Advocates of the plan say that at present representatives of the executive branch of the government exercise real influence over congress, but it is secret. Did these officials appear in person and propose their measures orally, the public would be better informed as to the source of influence affecting legislation.

Secretary of State Hughes has gone on record as favoring the plan and many other distinguished officials believe it would be desirable. Much prejudice would have to be overcome to bring about the change, as many members of congress believe it improper to make a fundamental alteration in the plan for the operation of the various branches of the government made by the framers of the constitution. It seems more than likely that some time will pass before any change is effected, but the subject is almost certain to be agitated with increasing frequency.

The American living problem seems to consist in finding some day to buy a new car before the old one is altogether worn out.

One good way for a boy to develop into a Nurni is to live a long distance from the school house and make a practice of starting late.

It may become advisable sooner or later for America to make its foreign loans in paper marks and rubles instead of gold dollars.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. MCINTYRE

ON THE ATLANTIC, March 2.—I'm off again to Paris. "Let's go to Europe!" said the highly important member of my household. "Let's!" said I. And two days later we are on our way in the Mauretania—a swift of the trans-Atlantic grayhounds.

I've crossed in the Mauretania before and found it a game, sturdy barque—bucking mountainous waves with a sort of joyousness. She gives you the impression of having a good time. Our deck steward Musker calls her: "A rippin' little blighter!"

A rather swank crowd is aboard. Several dukes and lords and their ladies. Also Gertrude Lawrence, the actress, Sir Alfred Butt, Arthur Hopkins, Dudley Field Malone, Adolph Zukor, and, O, yes, a Mr. Cox with two men servants and Mrs. Cox with two maids. Their servant problem seems to be solved.

My first day aboard ship is generally a squelch one. I stick to my cabin. And it wasn't pleasant to stumble upon a three letter word meaning grease in a crossword puzzle. I ventured out once and found passengers parading in life-jackets for drill and cantered back to bed again.

I couldn't even smile when Gertrude Lawrence explained that a five letter word meaning a kick in the pants was a flask. Our captain is A. H. Rostron, who commanded the Carpathia in the heroic rescue of the Titanic survivors many years ago.

There are varying emotions at the pier when a ship sails. Weeping. Gay shouting and fluttering of colored kerchiefs. But the most amusing thing to me was an excited fellow who called from the dock as the ship nosed out into the Hudson: "O, Ikey, did you forget your order book?"

Many are aboard I know. Among the first I saw was Zoe Beckley, queen of the Park Row "sob sisters" who is on her way to Bucharest to see another queen—the queen of Roumania. Miss Beckley and I used to be Simon Legree by the same city editor on the old New York Evening Mail.

The most pathetic group on a ship it seems to me is the ship's orchestra. They carry on valiantly as the ship skids along—striking random notes with every lurch of the vessel. Now and then the leader puts up a card "By Request"—a bit of hocus-pocus, I believe. I do not believe they ever get a request except not to play.

I am always rather entranced by the English servants, "Very good, sir," and the rising inflection of their "Thank you!" They know how to give a certain dignity to a rather-humble calling. Yet I do not believe any servant in the world compares with the old-fashioned, loyal southern darkey for service and comfort. They have all the English servant has—and more.

Crossing last summer there was a rush of passengers to the bar when the boat passed the three-mile limit. Nothing of this sort happened aboard the Mauretania. It may be, however, that a poor start will make a good finish. You do feel far from home, however, beyond the three mile limit when you see cocktails at 30 cents each and bottles of beer 15 cents each. I'm laughing.

A sudden squall belched up from nowhere in the late afternoon. The ominous noise of closing portholes, tightening life boats and slamming doors is never pleasant, but this proved only a slight gale and we were soon out of it headed for the vast deep. I never start on a trip without suffering neurotic reactions. I want to kick myself for coming and think of a thousand things left undone. On a boat you are conscious that you can do nothing about it. You cannot turn back and no doubt soon I will be thrilling to the journey.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By ALICE LANGLEIER.

PARIS, March 2.—Can the wife become her husband's equal and still retain his love? This is the question of "L'Egale," the Equal, now being played by Gernier's troupe at the Odéon theater.

It is an after-war piece, which is obtaining a large amount of success because of this new problem that is just beginning to interest many French women. Four years of war have greatly modified the soldiers left behind them. Bobbed hair is only one small sign of their desire for more freedom. Everywhere, even in the old world, they are taking the places of men and filling them well.

In the first act a manufacturer returns from Germany, where he has been a war prisoner for years. He expected to find his factory closed, his household without a head and his wife at her wits' end. On the contrary everything was in the pink of condition. Cecile, the wife, once a bit frivolous and childish, had taken over the direction of the business and after a few hard knocks had succeeded in coming out on top. The business was flourishing, in fact, never were things more prosperous. Georges was grateful, but the same moment deceived and disillusioned. His feelings were hurt when he found that his wife had been able to do without him and, more than that, had been able to take his place and even surpass him. Pride killed his old love for Cecile and it wandered off to Blanche Hardain, an old friend of his wife, a was-was-was well versed in all the feminine seductions.

But she is one of the old-fashioned "fatal women" who wants beaucoup money and lets out her secret too soon. Georges' love grows cool and when his wife feigns business difficulties, he takes this opportunity to go back to her. It is rather an old trick, but it works just as well. There is pleasant reconciliation and, of course—all ends well.

Plans for the Village Sara Bernhardt are progressing under the stimulus of numerous benefit performances, which are being given in the French capital.

The artists' village, which will be in a nearby suburb, Plessies-Robinson, will provide suitable accommodation for poor but worthy intellectuals, including writers, painters, actors, actresses and scientists. There one will be able to live and work in an artistic little pavilion fitted with every modern comfort. The designs have been made by Victor Sardou, son of the famous dramatist, which is proof enough that the village will be a thing of beauty.

It is planned for people of more than ordinary intelligence, as well as more than 30 years—those who have great minds capable of producing things worth while, but little means and heavy family burdens, perhaps. An association is attempting to raise one million francs and then the French government will supply the rest to make the project an accomplished fact. One is reminded of the days of the Middle Ages, where there was a patron to look after the poets.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

GASOLINE 50 CENTS. WHEN?

President Coolidge has rendered important public service in establishing his board for oil conservation. The matter is more important to the public than to the oil producers for, unless new and great oil territories are soon located, the signs will read, "Gasoline 50 cents." Probably recent gasoline rate was probably the last that will be seen in this country.

MR. WEEKS WILL REMEMBER

It is announced that the president will leave Brigadier General Mitchell to the tender mercies of Secretary Weeks, who, thanks to Mitchell's fearless and patriotic testimony stands exposed as a monument to complacency incapacity if nothing worse.

It is not easy to believe that the president will throw General Mitchell overboard entirely. There will probably be a string attached to the general in the way of a private word of advice from the president to the secretary.

If the worst comes and General Mitchell, with the president's tacit approval, is punished and humiliated for telling the truth, Mitchell may find comfort. When he is turned over to Mr. Weeks, the latter will be turned over to the newspapers. And what they will probably do to Mr. Weeks will last longer and be longer remembered than anything Mr. Weeks can do to General Mitchell.

GOOD ROCKEFELLER WORK

Human intelligence has no national brand, the works of science become immediately automatically the possession of the whole world. It is, therefore, an honor to the Rockefeller, father and son, that they should be using some of their money to help and encourage the poverty-stricken scientists of Germany, enabling them to continue their work for civilization.

JAPAN, CHINA, RUSSIA

The soviet government has ratified Russia's treaty with Japan, so that China, Japan and Russia now united by treaty form the basis of a big European-Asiatic combination.

It interests us because the three nations are united chiefly in their dislike of the United States. The Chinese masses have no particular reason for disliking us since we refused to take our share of the Boxer money. But skillful propaganda has made China think that this nation in some way represents contempt for Asia's people.

Russia dislikes us because we persist in maintaining what they call a capitalistic government. They object to our system as we object to theirs.

The success of our capitalistic system annoys Russia, while the fact that we won't admit Asiatic masses to full partnership annoys Japan. We may have trouble in that direction some day if we remain open to attack.

Any hope for prolonged safety must be based on the old saying that there is a special providence for children, drunkards and fools. Asia has her troubles. Educating her masses to hate something across the Pacific may cause them to look for things to hate nearer home.

China's railways are in utter disorder, the whole system a wreck, the various brigand armies seizing different lines.

Japan lacks perfect harmony with 2,500 police protecting her parliament. Our congress, which has just raised its own pay, even if it has not done much else, needs no protectors, thanks be.

But if one fine morning half a dozen big American cities should be bombed, gassed and wrecked, with the steel and oil men still running our army and navy, and with no aircraft for defense, there might be more trouble here at home.

Following such a calamity it would take more than 12,500 policemen to guard some of our official patriots.

We are getting very near to travel through the air. Last week the big dirigible Los Angeles reached Bermuda after a 12-hour journey from Lakehurst, N. J. The boats take 48 hours for the journey.

And the Los Angeles is a slow boat, going about 60 miles an hour, one-fifth the speed of a good modern airplane. As to safety, the Los Angeles with helium gas is at least as safe as railroad or steamship.

Another year or two will see commercial air lines. The government ought to start it, and thus help pay the cost of upkeep while training crews.

But the railroads don't want to see the government carrying passengers and the railroads rule.

News from Asia tells of an Indian scientist disclosing an "invisible light." It makes opaque objects transparent.

Japan announces that her young women will no bob their hair. They would have the best of reason, their complicated headdresses compelling many of them to sleep with their heads on blocks of wood.

Rothermere, brother of Lord Northcliffe, has accepted a challenge and will bet $25,000 that he can successfully pass an ordinary schoolboy's examination.

If he can he is the exception. The average man's education leaves him early as regards details. Ask your intelligent neighbor any simple question about Baffin bay, or what countries he would pass through on the way from London to Constantinople for instance.

We learn, largely to forget, and we worry the young with knowledge they will never use, which shows we do not know much about real education.

Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, tells a Louisville audience that a war between Great Britain and America is unthinkable, and that the best thing for the world's peace would be "a firm understanding between America and Great Britain and her dominions."

For these kind words thanks. A nation like this with a government that lacks the brains to prepare in peace or to deal with its grafters in war, would be fortunate to possess a friend in Great Britain.

They have a government that oil men, steel men, battleship builders and international bankers do not dominate.

That's why England has just appropriated $100,000,000 for aircraft.

Thank heaven you live in a country with open frontiers around all the 48 states, of which it is composed, with freedom to move in all directions. Europe is cursed with passport restrictions of which this is a sample.

The little Tyrolean town of Brenner, chopped in two after the war, is part Italian, part Austrian. The church is on Italian soil, nearly all the congregation live on Austrian soil. Every Sunday each Austrian worshiper must show his passport to get inside the church.

SOCIETY

Mrs. O. H. Dawson Hostess at Bible Literary Club Meet

In preparing the 1925 calendar for the Bible Literary Club it was the aim of the program committee to produce one as interesting as possible. That they have accomplished their object was demonstrated again Saturday afternoon during the meeting with Mrs. O. H. Dawson, as hostess. Mrs. C. R. Boyce presided, and Mrs. J. W. Irwin was leader.

"Interwoven Gospels" formed the topic of a talk by Miss Florence Updegraff who gave the new idea of the gospel chronological events—a connected idea of the selection of the disciples, Luke's preface, John's introduction, the fulfillment of the promise of the birth of Christ—concluding with a record proving the Resurrection.

"Songs of the Gospel" given by Mrs. T. C. Flick, made visible the human side of Christ, and references to vocal music were classified from many parts of the Bible, expressing the emotions of humanity under all conditions. Historical events of Biblical times also were fitted to proper places by song.

"Great Revivals of Modern Times" was the subject of a talk by Miss Maud Baum, in which she traced the results of early Italian revivals, other revivals when terror was the rod used to convert sinners, the revivals of 1850, the Scotch and Irish revivals and the great work done in the coal fields, concluding with the history of the Moody and the Billy Sunday revivals. Mrs. A. Moss gave a review of Hebrew Theology—the fundamentalism of Judaism, the mental and moral developments, the story of the giving of the Law and concluding with an incident relating to the infinite nature of God and how to grasp it.

The club contributed $10 to tuberculosis patients.

The next meeting will be held March 14, with Mrs. W. T. McNutt as hostess.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Oregon Farm Spends $100,000 for Foxes Of Silver Variety

SUMMERSTOWN, P. E. I., March.—One hundred black and silver foxes, of an announced value of $100,000 and said to comprise the highest priced single consignment of foxes ever to leave Prince Edward's Island, have been shipped from here to a fox farm in Oregon.

Breeding of the silver fox in domestication had its origin in this island. The first fox ranch was established in 1887, and the island is now the source of breeding stock for fox farms in many parts of Canada and the United States.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thin, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual break-down of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! We know that as blood cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it cures rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

Start taking S.S.S. today and get back that power in your blood!

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Bebe Daniels Stars In "Dangerous Money," At Ceramic Theatre

Bebe Daniels has come into her own!

Long the favorite of millions of picture fans, Bebe has been rewarded by promotion to stardom and is now spoken of in the same breath with Gloria Swanson, Pola Negri, Tommy Meighan and the rest.

Miss Daniels' first production as a star in Paramount pictures is "Dangerous Money," which will be shown at the Ceramic today and Wednesday. The story was adapted to the screen by Julie Herne from the novel, "Clark's Field," by Robert Herrick. The action is laid in the industrial district of Brooklyn under the shadow of the Brooklyn Bridge, at a fashionable girls' school in upper New York state and at Lake Como, Italy.

Tom Moore heads the supporting cast which includes William Powell, Dolores Costello, May Foy, Edward O'Connor, Peter Lang and Charles Slattery.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Tom Mix and His Dog in "Teeth," at Columbia Theatre

Admirers of Tom Mix, with the inseparable Tony and the more recent co-star, Duke, the dog, will have the opportunity to see their favorite in a new wonder picture when "Teeth" comes to the Columbia theatre today. In this, his latest vehicle, he appears as Dave Deering, a happy-go-lucky wandering prospector, a lover of his horse Tony, and later a dog, Duke, that he finds sorely wounded. From this point the story moves with intensified action, with many realistic scenes, one vivid feature being a real forest fire. It is an ideal vehicle for Mix.

"Teeth" was directed by J. G. Blystone for William Fox and was adapted from "Sonny" the popular novel by Virginia Hudson Brightman.

"I Can Sink a Ship in From 2 to 4 Minutes"

Washington officials watching the clash between Brig. Gen. Mitchell, assistant chief of the U. S. army air service, and his superior officers, are inclined to ask that his "sporting proposition" to decide the merits of his case be accepted. To prove that his contentions regarding the value of aircraft over battleships in war are correct he has asked permission to sink the battleship Oregon, held for target purposes. "I can sink her within from two to four minutes if given the chance," he says. Photo shows General Mitchell at right, explaining his views to Rep. P. B. O'Sullivan of Connecticut, one of the members of the special aircraft committee before which Mitchell made charges of defective equipment and poor methods in the air service.

Feminism Invading Harem.

Women in the Mohammedan countries where the harem has held sway for centuries, have won their emancipation by leaps and bounds, and there is a great changing in the social and economic condition of these women. Bobbed hair and high heeled shoes, not to mention French clothes and American hygienic habits, have replaced the old order of things among the younger women in Turkey. In the old days women were not educated in that country as a general thing, but today education has been made easily accessible. The change in government to the republican form has helped the cause of women considerably.

JULDS THAI DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

TRAFFIC LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Three Arrested During Past Week for Road Violation.

Just before W. S. Perry of the state highway department, who conducted a road hearing here Thursday left for Columbus, he held a lengthy conference with Sheriff George Wright relative to the rigid enforcement of the road and automobile laws.

"I want to assure you that all officers in Columbus are back of you in your effort to enforce these traffic laws," Mr. Perry declared. "The overweighing of trucks is one of the greatest menaces the state highway department has to contend with, he asserted.

"Owners of trucks are responsible and not the drivers when trucks are overloaded. I wish to say this, however, that there are only about 10 counties in Ohio where these laws are being enforced, and Columbiana county is one of the ten.

Last week Deputy Sheriff Henry Burbon "picked" up three trucks that were overloaded. The first had 9,000 pounds over weight, and the second 7,500 pounds over.

Frank Piccolo, driving a load of macaroni from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Youngstown over the Cox highway last Friday had 10,000 pounds over weight, and he posted a forfeit of $100 for his appearance in court at Lisbon.

Fines collected from those who are arrested for overloading trucks are credited to the county road fund. Should a conviction result in the case of Frank Piccolo, this will mean that $200 had been added to this fund in less than a week.

Movement Launched For Purchase of Motor Fire Truck

In order to secure additional fire apparatus, a movement is expected to be launched in Lisbon this week urging the Lisbon village council to purchase a new motor truck, and the purchase price would be reduced to the council through public subscriptions.

Suggestion has been made that a public subscription of not less than $2,500 be taken, and this money be given to the council. The municipality may then add what amount it desires, so that a modern truck could be secured.

A meeting of council will be held Monday night at which time the subject of new fire apparatus is expected to be discussed. It may follow that either a committee of business men or the Kiwanis club will be asked to become interested in the public subscription movement.

SPECIAL SESSION OF GRAND JURY

A special session of the grand jury has been called by Judges James G. Moore to convene at 9:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning. The same grand jurors who served at the January session will go into session this week.

The next regular grand jury will convene Monday, April 6, but in order to clear the investigation of a number of major cases now pending, it was deemed wise that a special grand jury convene at this time.

First and second degree murder charges from Wellsville are to be considered by the grand jury this week, and it is also possible that a manslaughter and several burglary charges will also be investigated.

J. C. McIntosh of Wellsville will be foreman of the special grand jury as he was last January.

RUHL FUNERAL HELD IN LISBON

They have one child, Mrs. Reynolds is said to be residing at the home of Thurman Blazer, Oakmont, St. Clair township.

The county commissioners announced Monday that bids would be received March 23 for furnishing medical services to prisoners in the county jail. Dr. Seward Harris of Lisbon has been performing this service for several years.

NEW MINISTER FILLS PULPIT

Rev. R. J. Bennett, formerly Shenandoah, Va., and who recently accepted the pastorate of the Lisbon Christian church, assumed his charge Sunday, preaching at both morning and evening services. The Rev. P. M. Kendall, whom Mr. Bennett succeeded, is now located at Medina. Rev. James M. Davidson of New Brighton, Pa., occupied the pulpit at the church of the Nazarene Sunday morning and evening. This church at this time is without a stated pastor. It has not been indicated by the officials of this church when one will be called.

CLAIMS DUTCHER IS HOLD-UP MAN

Robert Dutcher of Negley, now in the county jail under $2,000 bond on two charges of malicious destruction of property and breaking and entering, has been identified by Mrs. George Welch of East Palestine as the man who held her up as she was walking along the street in East Palestine recently, authorities announced today.

Dutcher is now in the county jail in default of bond.

APPELLATE COURT MEETS MONDAY

The appellate court of the seventh judicial district will go in session in Youngstown next Monday, and will probably remain there for the next six weeks.

A number of cases from other counties will probably be decided while the court is in Mahoning county.

After the court adjourns in Mahoning, it will convene in Columbiana.

Poultrymen Organize.

At a meeting of poultry fanciers held in the Lisbon city building, a county organization was formed, and George Alcorn of East Palestine was elected president. Joseph Hunt of Leetonia was elected secretary.

County Home Inspected.

An inspection of the County Home was made Monday by the county commissioners as required by law. The buildings at this institution are being given a stucco finish, the contract having been awarded to an Alliance contractor on his low bid.

Ice Age Unlikely.

There are old timers who will tell you that so far as the United States is concerned, the winters are warmer than they used to be and that a climatic change is taking place. Dr. A. P. Coleman of the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto, has come forward with the further comforting statement that a return of an ice age is quite unlikely. Glacial periods of the past have been accounted for by rather definite physical changes that could be charted in advance if necessary.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeane

Rossiter came over and patted her shoulder, then put his arm about her. "Don't cry, Kara—you've been just fine through the whole thing, loyal as could be. You're his mate, all right—the sort of thing I wanted, that sees a man through."

Karesia laid hold on self-control. "We won't talk about it, Rand. It's a comfort to feel that you're my good friend and that you don't think ill of him any longer. Go in and see them. If John can't see you, talk to Clarice. You don't know how splendid she has been throughout all this. It's made a great change in her, being able to believe in her father—the child has been unhappy all her life."

"I suppose you know all about it now, Kara—Clarice and my affair. I did like her—it was the shock of finding out who she was."

"I have always thought that way down in your heart you cared for Clarice. I told her our history the other day—every bit of it—and what do you think was the first thing she said to me? 'I don't see how you could have left him like that!' She was angry with me for having ill-treated you!"

Rossiter flushed deeply, but all he said was, "I'll go into town now. I can't work the way I'm feeling—I'll have to get it off my chest. I'll run in and see you sometimes—take you out in the car. I don't like that white, thin look of yours," and he went off in his usual vividly energetic way.

That day was a trial to Karesia. She was given an insight into the brazen urge of curiosity. Her telephone rang until she refused to answer it. Suda was distracted by the frequent ringing of the front door bell. Fortunately it was equipped with a chain, and Suda spoke through a crack to the curious ones outside: "You write note and I take and see," was his formula. Even Karesia's 'wabby' neighbor across the street called her up and inquired in accusing tones whether the old lady whom she had been wont to lead up the hillside every morning was the "wait" mentioned in the morning paper? Very strange, the whole thing!

Happily the two reporters who had given her such kindly and laudatory notices in their respective papers at the time her residence in Hollywood first became known requested interviews early in the day. Karesia adhered to the account in the morning papers, giving Dascome the credit of the discovery, and, thereafter, all callers in quest of information were referred to the forthcoming papers; Mrs. Kalme had nothing further to say on the subject.

It was a relief to find that she had been correctly quoted; also that there was not a hint of the real relations between her and Dascome. On the contrary, one paper devoted several paragraphs to the "report" that Mrs. Sonya Karesia Kalme and Randsome Rossiter were engaged. Randsome Rossiter had been called upon and he had denied the report; he and Mrs. Kalme were "good friends, that was all." There were photographs of Clarice in the evening papers and a great deal said about her going into pictures—an heiress to ten millions, determined upon a career. Nadine Navarre, interviewed, said that Clarice Dascome had unusual talent. Yes, she had known John Dascome for a number of years, a man of fine character wronged by a set of extraordinary circumstances. Poof! She had always known that the matter would be cleared up sometime—it had never disturbed her! "You see, my good friend," she told the reporter, "I know an upright man so soon as I see him. These people who do not understand character, they are so stupid!"

Though her condition was still precarious, Elaine Dascome was said to be doing well; her physicians—three noted names were mentioned—were much pleased. There had been no setbacks. They would not permit conversation, but, from what she had said, it was evident that her mind was clear; as in the case with amnesia, she had no recollection of events following upon the blow on the head which had rendered her unconscious. Her husband and daughter were in constant attendance at her bedside; they had been denied to all reporters.

Clarice telephoned to Karesia: "They say mamma is doing well. She knows me and, when she isn't asleep, she holds my hand. She knows father, too, now. This morning she said to him, 'I've been ill for a long time, haven't I, John?' And he said, 'Yes, Elaine. If you will try not to talk and think, you will get well more quickly.' And she said, 'Yes, I'll go to sleep.' . . . Father looks so ill and tired, Mrs. Kalme. . . . Mr. Rossiter came to see us the other day. He feels so badly he nearly cried, but father spoke very nicely to him. Oh, Mrs. Kalme, the people who keep trying to see us and writing! It doesn't please father, it bothers him—all about their always having thought he was innocent and things like that—stacks of letters."

Karesia collected a definite anxiety out of it all. "Clarice, will you give your father a message for me? Tell him that I beg him to take care of himself. He has been under a strain for so long and now comes the reaction. Tell him I am well."

Then there followed days when the papers were filled with a jodgepodge of "Dascome" news; men who had met John Dascome here and there, while he was on his long quest, who wanted to say what they thought of his resolute character. Women wrote to the papers what they thought of a man who had suffered as he must have—so brave through it all! A splendid man! And his poor wife! The utter sadness of it, her youth gone, so broken! God grant that she would recover and their days end happily!

Captain A. B. Randall, of the liner Republic, tells this story: "A steward," he said, "stood at the gangway of a ship of mine, and as he stood there he kept shouting for the benefit of the arriving passengers: 'First-class to the right! Second-class to the left.'"

"A young woman stepped daintily aboard with a baby in her arms. As she hesitated before the steward and he bent over her and said in his chivalrous way: 'First or second?'"

"Oh!" said the girl, her face as red as a rose. "Oh, dear, it's—it's not mine."

Both Air Service and

Biggest Boost in Approp-

LONDON, Feb.—Great Britain will be asked to raise nearly $650,000,000 for its army, navy and air force during the next year.

which he will present to the House of Commons in April. Based on one hand with a widespread popular demand for reduction in taxation, Churchill finds himself harassed on the other hand by the officials of the fighting service, demanding increased expenditures. Just where the balance will be struck is difficult to say, but it seems certain that all of the fighting forces will be granted some increase in appropriations.

The budget estimates for the fighting service will be approximately as follows:

Navy	$325,000,000
Army	225,000,000
Air Force	100,000,000
Total	$650,000,000

Navy Asks Much.

The biggest increase that will be sought is by the Admiralty. During the present year the Admiralty had an appropriation of $275,000,000. During the forthcoming year the Admiralty wants $325,000,000.

This increase is asked for a number of new light cruisers, three submarines and an aircraft carrier, as well as several auxiliary ships.

The number of new cruisers the Admiralty will be allowed is still indeterminate, but the department is asking for eight and states that within the next ten years it will have to build thirty-seven new cruisers for replacements. It is proposed that there shall be an appropriation of approximately $5,000,000 for each new cruiser of 10,000 tons, equipped with eight-inch guns.

The Admiralty also wants that, as new destroyers have not been laid down since the war, during the next few years provisions must be made for extensive destroyer replacements.

Army Satisfied.

The Army had an appropriation of $225,000,000 this year, and it is not expected that there will be any material increase asked, as it appears that this branch of the service is now on a more or less permanent basis.

During the regime of the Labor government there was a distinct improvement for the reduction of expenditures on the fighting services but the present Tory government is inclined to look with more favor on such appropriations.

Churchill's task is a difficult one, for the demand for reduction in taxes is one that must be met, or the life of the government may be endangered. At the same time the demands of the services must not be spurned. It seems probable that he will find a middle course which will satisfy the public and the fighting service, at the expense of other government departments.

Huge Apple Orchard 80,000 Bearing Trees To Change Hands

BRIDGEVILLE, Del., March.—The thousand-acre orchard of the Delaware Apple company, with its 80,000 bearing trees, will be sold to George E. Saulsbury, of Baltimore, Md., who, it is said, has offered $93,300 for the land.

NEW METHOD HEALS RUPTURE

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery
Makes Truss or Operation
Unnecessary.

Kansas City, Mo. — (Special) — A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well known Hernia specialist of this city. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of Review-Tribune who writes him at his office, 2211 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good without an operation take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.

Runyon Says

Boxers Swarm West.
Drop Off Every Train.
A List of Transients.
Chief Meyers Heard From.
The Mexican Favorites.

BY DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, March 3.
EASTERN boxers may soon outnumber the former Iowans in Los Angeles.

Every incoming train unloads a cargo of cauliflower. Fortunately, Los Angeles is roomy, hospitable. The visitors can all find shelter.

If you are acquainted in Flatland you will feel quite at home here. You see on almost every corner a familiar battered countenance. This writer in one day shook hands with no less than twenty boxers from different parts of the land.

He is informed that the California Boxing commission has already issued nearly 300 boxing licenses. Quite a colony of boxers is located in San Francisco.

It eventually will be a case of the survival of the fittest, of course. The men of real ability will be kept busy. The mediocre must move on.

Jim Dougherty, "The Baron of Liperville," and Scotty Monteth, of New York, have brought in the largest "stables" so far.

Dougherty is here with Bobby Barrett, red-headed slugger from Clifton Heights, Pa.; Alex. Hart, lightweight, and Jack Ketchel, a young middleweight.

Monteth arrived with Louis Kid Kaplan, claimant of the featherweight title; Jackie Snyder, Joe Ryder and Jimmy Hutchinson. Monteth got in a quarrel with a boxing inspector at San Diego when one of his men was boxing there, which served to bring to light a former baseball hero of Manhattan, Chief John Tertes Meyers.

Meyers is a big Mission Indian who was one of McGraw's catchers for some years. He could "hit 'em a mile." The battery of Mathewson and Meyers was famous.

Chief Meyers was the boxing inspector with whom Monteth quarreled. He makes his home at El Paso.

Larney Lightenstein, of Chicago, who once managed the great Jimmy Clabby, Pesek, the wrestler, and other notables of the ring and mat, is here with Ernie Gooseman, Ray Miller and Lou Rollinger.

The latter is a slim, dark-haired boy not long out of high school, who may one day be a good heavyweight. Larney found him in Wisconsin, is developing him carefully. Lou Rollinger—a great name for a screen star—is just now a light heavyweight, but is growing steadily.

Larney is one manager who never tells you one of his boys can beat another. Ask him, and he says enigmatically, "Well, I'd like to make the match."

Nearly every manager here has a heavyweight, just as in the East. And every manager with a heavyweight no doubt secretly believes he has the next champion.

That is all right. If a manager does not sincerely believe in the ability of his charges, he is wasting time with them.

Loney Austin, tall, young, pleasant, is here with Roy Cliff, a thin-legged shifty looking chap, who will fill out in a year to at least 190 pounds. He impresses the writer as a real prospect. Also Austin has the Berocot brothers, from the lumber camps of the Northwest. Dode Berocot is a real good welterweight, the other brother a recruit to the game.

Oddly enough, both the Berocot boys are "side-wheelers," or more familiarly "southerners."

King Solomon, a big Hebrew, who has been winning fights in Panama, is here with Wirt L. Ross, his manager. He has a pretty fair record. Harvey Perkins is another heavyweight from the Rocky Mountain West.

Kidly remember all these names. You may hear much of one of these chaps in the future. Never laugh at any heavyweight. If he is young and WILLING he has a chance.

It is quite reasonable to expect the Pacific Coast to produce the next heavyweight champion. James J. Corbett and James J. Jeffries were developed out here. So, to a certain extent, was Jack Dempsey.

Tommy Burns was produced as champion right here in Los Angeles. Jack Johnson did the fighting that gave him recognition as a title contender here. Jess Willard gained much of his fame here.

Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia middleweight, "Gentleman Gene" Delmont, of Memphis; George Manley, Denver middleweight; Pat Mills, of Ireland; Ace Hudkins, Omaha lightweight; Mike Dempsey, of Rochester—these are a few other fisty visitors in Los Angeles.

There is a large Mexican population in Los Angeles. The Mexicans are great pugilistic fans. Long before Colima's time they followed the famous Mexican lightweight, Joe Rivers, in force.

After Colima came Tony Fuente, the heavyweight, who was a terrific sensation, packing every house where he appeared. Fuente is now in training again, freed of his troubles with the law over his bout with Fred Fulton.

The writer will tell you more of him later.

Milton Takes Lead.
LOS ANGELES, Mar. 2.—Tommy Milton, Los Angeles, was but a head today in the battle for 1925 honors on American automobile speedways, having won yesterday's postponed Washington's birthday race of 250 miles in the Culver City bowl. His time averaged 126.89 miles per hour. He drove a Miller special.

College Yearlings Fall Before Highs' Court In Last Half

As a result of a second half spurt that swept their opponents from their feet, East Liverpool high school passers Saturday night easily won from the Bethany Freshmen, at Bethany, in their second clash of the season. The score was 31 to 18.

Bethany made 13 points in the first half and East Liverpool 8. The Bison yearlings made just three points in the second half and Coach Boone's team counted up 23.

The Buffalo Creek crew had all the best of the affair, as the score indicates, in the opening half, outplaying the high school lads consistently.

But the East Liverpool cagers changed their style of play after the intermission, using a four-man offense and a five-man defense. They then proceeded to put the Freshies to rout. The Bethany five made only one field goal in the final half.

All the local team played good basketball, especially in the last half, and all had a hand in the scoring, English leading with six field goals and one foul. The playing of House, Idleman and Addy featured for the college team.

Nurmi Will Attempt To Better Mark for Mile and Half Race

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Paavo Nurmi, Finnish star, will make another assault on existing running records, when he will try to better the mark for the mile and a half race at the 71st regiment armory games tonight. ## Baptists and U.P. Passers Win Contests

Penn. Ave. M. E. and Chester Presbyterians Are Losers.

First Baptist 34, Penn. Ave. M. E. 27.
United Presbyterians 23, Chester Presbyterians 13.

These were results in Saturday night's Sunday school circuit games at the Y. M. C. A.

The East End lads developed a better brand of passwork in their clash with the Baptists but the down town squad had Mackey who possessed a keen eye Saturday night rolled in nine field goals and two fouls.

The East Enders hopped into the lead at the outset, scoring three points before the enemy reached the basket.

But the Baptists got busy and led at the end of the quarter, 4 to 3 maintaining the pace through the second period. Half-time found the Baptists ahead by the count of 11 to 8.

Both squads scored the same number of points in the third quarter, when the count stood 20 to 17. The East Enders tied up the score at 21 to 21 in the first few minutes of the final quarter but the Baptists spurred and reached the wire first, with Mackey and Rumberger scoring seven consecutive points. These two, with Kittredge and D. Fugate were the Baptist stars while Rose, McKim and Cook performed brilliantly for the losers.

The Chester Presbyterians played a better floor game than the U. P. quint but the latter squad made the most points. The count was 11 to 9 at the end of the first half. Of the total, 20 points, only four resulted from field goals, one apiece. The U. P. passers held the lead throughout the contest. Dickey was the U. P. star, with 17 points to his credit, while Calhoun, Hoffman and Berg also played well. Wallace, Haney and Bartley were the chief performers for the losers.

Bill Watkins Will Referee At Tourney

Veteran Arbiter Selected for Buckhannon Games.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 2.—Picking a referee for the West Virginia State High School basketball tournament that will meet with the approval of all contestants is no small task. The referee is one important factor of the annual state games, and no small amount of the success of the annual tournaments depend on the eleven men on the floor during the championship games.

For several years the state tournament has been refereed by two officials, for the reason that two courts were used to play the preliminary contests on. Last year Cal Bolster of Pittsburgh and Bill Watkins, two of the most prominent floor officials in the eastern section of the country, were selected to officiate the state games. The work of these officials won the highest praise of players, coaches and spectators.

To date State Tourney headquarters have filed the applications of 22 officials who desire to work the state games this year. All are good officials and doubtless anyone of the lot could handle the games satisfactorily.

Because of his long and satisfactory service handling the West Virginia tournament, and for the reason

In the second half conditions were reversed, the church lads outplaying the Roamers and almost tying the score. Lindell's field goal in the final few minutes of play put the game in the victory zone for the Roamers. Lindell, Hloor and Wildblood starred for the Roamers, while Horwell, Small and Menge performed the best for the church lads.

Babcock-Wilcox New Entry in Y Indoor Baseball Circuit

The Babcock-Wilcox team of the "Y" indoor baseball league will get its first taste of battle tonight.

The East End entry will take the place of the Smith-Phillips tossers who are unable to continue the remainder of the season.

The Babcock-Wilcox players will tackle Langhin 6 in the first contest at 8 o'clock. The Crookery City and Potters squads clash at 8:45.

that but one official will be used this year, choice falls on Bill Watkins of East Liverpool, O., to officiate the state title contests which will be held here, March 20 and 21. Watkins is known throughout this section as the "Dean of Basketball Referees," and is in constant demand throughout the eastern part of the country. His selection meets with the unanimous approval by all officials, players and coaches over the state, connected with West Virginia scholastic basketball.

WILL TAKE ONE MORE SHOT AT BIG MONEY

Leonard Expected to Come Back This Summer for Scrap With Mickey Walker.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The fistie pot, overflowing with choice and selected cauliflower, will come to a boil within the next 24 hours when Benny Leonard, the eminent actor, arrives in town almost coincident with the expected decision of the state athletic commission on the status of Harry Willis and Tom Gibbons. Leonard will be with us today and it is intimated that overtures will be made looking toward a possible reconsideration of his announced retirement from the many art of soak-em in favor of the many art of hokum.

The commission is expected to proclaim its attitude tomorrow toward the proposal that Gibbons and Willis be matched in a two-man elimination affair, with the winner to meet Jack Dempsey. Rumors on this subject are many and varied. One of them is to the effect that official displeasure has been voiced against matching Gibbons and Willis at all. Another has it that the match is in the well and favorably known bag. A third alleges that Willis, having filed the first challenge, is at least to get his shot at Dempsey without further preamble. Commissioner Jim Farley is known to favor this course of action with Muldoon and Brower holding out for a Gibbons-Willis meeting.

As for Benjamin, an actor owes a duty to his public and his visit ostensibly is prompted by a desire to discharge the great obligation. But Billy Gilson's publicity department has been hitting rather broadly to the possibility that Benjamin may step out with Mickey Walker this summer and it is not altogether unlikely that the great man will combine business with pleasure, the latter being represented by the acceptance of the $200,000 contract that is alleged to go with the Walker meeting.

However, there may be something doriforous in Denmark here. Loose conversation about emerging from retirement will cause no depreciation of the general esteem in which Benjamin's act is held. Neither will it injure the success of the moving picture, which I am assured he is soon to make.

We have been led to believe, however, that Leonard really means to stake himself to one more shot at the big money. Close friends of the ex-champion have assured me that he will fight Walker this summer and until something definite develops to the contrary, I have no alternative but to believe what I hear, particularly since the story deals in freight train numbers for the purse.

Such popularity must be deserved

THE magic carpet of the Thief of Bagdad! The greater magic of Douglas Fairbanks, whose very name packs theatres to the doors! Mr. Fairbanks has won success in many roles, Chesterfield in but one. Yet both have achieved their immense popularity by the simple process of deserving it.

Downright better taste—that's the "magic" of Chesterfield! What else could account for such popularity?

Confucianism is Growing.
The great sage of China, Confucius, has not lost his hold in China and the anniversary of his birth is celebrated each succeeding year more lavishly than before. ## Vigilance Committee Warning Prevents Swindle of Merchant

Old "Spanish Prisoner" Game, Used to Fleece Hundreds, is Attempted Here.

The National Vigilance committee, co-operating with the Chamber of commerce, prevented a local business man from being victimized in a swindle, it developed today.

Several days ago, a letter was received by the man from a party who claimed that he was imprisoned in Spain because of bankruptcy proceedings, although he holds more than $500,000 worth of property in the United States. The "prisoner" offered one-third of his interests to the business man if he will assist him in obtaining this money. An answer to the cablegram, to be sent to a friend in Madrid, Spain, was requested.

The communication was immediately turned over to the Chamber of Commerce, which referred it to the National Vigilance committee's office in New York.

An investigation proved the plan to be the old style "Spanish prisoner game" which it is alleged to have been to fleece scores of thousands of dollars. A bulletin explaining the scheme has been sent out to more than 10,000 Chamber of Commerce and advertising clubs of the United States.

"This scheme has been operated for a score or more years and it is strange to say that instances have risen where persons in this country have been 'bitten,' says a letter from the committee to the local chamber.

Tuberculosis Death Rate Takes Toll of Industrial Workers

CHICAGO, March 2.—Tuberculosis kills three times as many industrial workers as it does office and professional workers in the United States, declared A. W. Frye, supreme commander of the Maccabees, in an address here at a fraternal welfare conference.

"The death rates from tuberculosis among industrial employees is 12 times as high as among farm workers," said Mr. Frye. "Mortality from pneumonia is twice as high among industrial workers as it is among non-industrial workers. The degenerative diseases, such as kidney and organic heart disease, show a death rate three times as high among industrial workers as among other groups."

Wage disputes in the British coal fields are becoming so frequent that mine owners have to carry large reserves of coal and often are overstocked, all of which has made English fuel prices fluctuate more than normally.
